Welcome to a Golden Experience

By ANNA GIRLING, assistant editor

Most people find the start of a school year to be a monotonous task filled with meetings, rules and a lot of less than exciting activities that feel more like chores than a good time. However, instead of the usual back-to-school routine, East Central Community College makes sure their students feel at home by making it a true EC experience.

At the beginning of the fall semester, Welcome Back Week celebrates with a series of events that "Making students feel like a part of the EC family is what Welcome Back Week is all about."

showcase the excitement on campus. Students can attend activities to meet new people, join new organizations and make new memories. Sophomore Zach Peden said, "Welcome Back Week is always something I look forward to. It's always great to be reunited with old friends that I hadn't seen all summer. It provides me with an opportunity to make Freshman feel welcome in a laid back setting, and Sophomores feel back at home. We as students can create a family setting, which is something I think EC strives for. Making students feel like a part of the EC family is what Welcome Back Week is all about."

This year, Welcome Back Week was kicked off with an Ice Cream Social held at the pavilion where students met and reunited with friends while enjoying a cold treat and good music.

The following night, the Baptist Student Union held an open house. Their event included games of all sorts, but most of all good fellowship, which the BSU is known for.

Clubs Night was held the next Monday, where students could check out displays to decide which of the many campus organizations in which they want to be involved.

Picnic with the President was scheduled the following day at the pavilion, but the weather did not cooperate. However, that did not spoil East Central's fun as the picnic was moved to the cafeteria.

Wednesday's Welcome Back Week activity was a Slip 'n Slide. Visqueen was rolled out on the hill beside the pavilion and was drenched in water, baby oil and soap. Students were sliding, surfing and flipping down the hill all afternoon and well into the nighttime.

Thursday night, EC saved the best fun for last. A foam party was held on the tennis courts. Attendees danced the night away with foam all around while the DJ cranked out the latest hits.

Dorm vs. Commute

By EMILY COOK, assistant editor

College is full of wonderful experiences. While everyone experiences life on campus at East Central Community College, the amount of time spent on the grounds of ECCC differs for different people.

Some experience it 24/7 like the dorm students. Others, such as the commuter students, experience the life on campus but also the comforts of home everyday. Both have pros and cons but do some outweigh the other?

"I like that I'm right here on campus and I can just walk to my classes," said freshman dorm student Grayson Harrell. "I know exactly how long the walk from my dorm to class is each day. Since I don't drive it (the time it takes to get to class) never changes depending on traffic."

She also said she likes how staying on campus makes it easy to attend the student activities EC holds such as dances and guest speakers that are usually held at night.

"Being in the dorms, I've had the chance to meet new people and made more friends than I feel I would have made not staying on campus."

Estefania Olmedo is a sophomore commuter student who said she enjoys the conveniences of commuting to college.

"The advantages of being a commuter student for me would be being able to spend more time with my family every day," with a laugh she adds, "and getting to work more hours."

Another part of being a commuter student that she said enjoys is she is being able to get away from school after she is finished with classes each day.

While both have their advantages, they come with their disadvantages as well. A disadvantage for Harrell is being away from home so much.

"I'm gone five days out of the week and only home for two which was a big change from high school," she said. "I don't get to spend as much time with my family which makes breaks from school that much more exciting."

For Olmedo, she said, "The biggest disadvantage for me is not being as active as I would like to be."

She goes on to say, "I stayed on campus last year and I honestly feel like I did a lot more."

Jokingly, Harrell exclaimed that sharing the bathroom was the worst about being a dorm student.

She explained, "I'm used to having my own bathroom and here we're required to share one bathroom with three other girls."

Olmedo said when she was a dorm student she was able to sleep in, but now she does not get that liberty as a commuter. She adds to her list that she also misses getting to eat on "Fried Chicken Thursdays," a weekly lunch students rarely miss.

In the end, while both dorm and commuter life have their ups and downs, they are both an essential part of East Central.

Homecoming Week Goes Pink

By ANNA GIRLING, assistant editor

Homecoming is a time when alumni and current students can join together to celebrate the common pride in their school, and East Central Community College is no exception to this concept. The hustle and bustle of a new school year has started to subside, and students are starting to think of East Central as their home.

EC is all about creating an educational yet social environment for students. Just like any other big event at EC, several activities were held to get people involved in the festivities. The Saturday before Homecoming Week the annual Homecoming Alumni Tennis Tournament was held. Then the week was kicked off on Monday with a Movie Night where students munched on popcorn while enjoying the movie, Radio. Students got a chance to show off their skills on the volleyball court during the Volley Ball Tournament on Tuesday and Wednesday. Thursday was the night everyone was waiting for, the Homecoming Pep Rally! EC students and alumni were encouraged to fill the stands and show off their Warrior pride all night long.

The Pep Rally was kicked off with The Wall O' Sound Marching Band taking the field. Afterwards, the Homecoming Court was introduced and everyone held their breath as the Queen was announced, but the fun wasn't over yet! Directly following, there was an unexpected fireworks show that could be seen all around the town of Decatur. Later on that night, there were several local bands that "rocked out" on the stage adjacent to the football field, and then The Collegians topped off the night with their first performance of the year.

Although homecoming is about the school and its students, EC used it as an opportunity to raise awareness for a cause that affects many people.

October is National Breast Cancer Awareness Month and EC decided to honor this in their Homecoming Week. Sponsored by Phi Beta Lambda, "Think Pink Week" went under way on Monday with the distribution of pink ribbons. Tuesday, Staff members and students were encouraged to wear pink on "Power of Pink Day." "Bright Pink Day" was Wednesday, and campus was lit up with neon pink as well as its usual gold. The week's activities concluded with a "Pink Balloon Release" scheduled on Friday by the cafeteria. Balloons were available for purchase in memory or in honor of those who have fought or continue to fight breast cancer. Donations for the cause were taken up throughout the week.

Homecoming brings Celebration

By EMILY COOK, assistant editor

The warm sunny day was taken advantage of as the homecoming festivities at East Central Community College kicked off on October 12. Many students, fans and alumni packed the stands to help celebrate the successful 85 years of ECCC.

As the cheerleaders pepped up the crowd and the band got them all on their feet, it was sure to be a great day on the EC campus. The Warrior football team went head-to-head with Mississippi Delta Community College to bring on the first win of the season.

The homecoming football game got off to a great start for the Warriors when they scored the first touchdown of the game. The stands came to life as the fans cheered on the Warriors team.

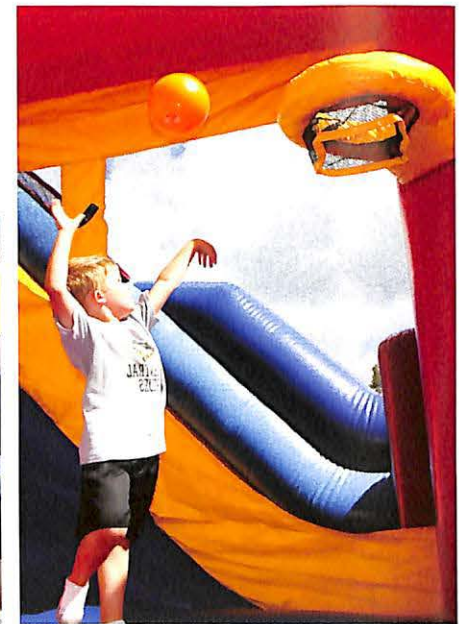

During half time, the Warrior baseball team which won the state championship last spring, was presented championship rings. Each member of the baseball team was introduced individually and was presented their rings following a round of applause from the audience.

The homecoming maids and their escorts were next to take the field. From the lovely gowns to the tux and ties, the court made a stunning appearance. Kaylin Hopkins (as pictured top right) was crowned 2013 Homecoming Queen.

With time still left, the Wall O' Sound Band along with the Color Guard and Centralettes wrapped up half time with a spectacular performance of their Blues Brothers halftime show.

After half time, the Warrior football team came back fighting, leading to a victory over Mississippi Delta.

All-in-all, it was another great day to be an EC Warrior.

Nightmare on Warrior Drive

By CONOR BELL, editor

The ghosts and ghouls of EC rose from their crypts to kick off the Warrior basketball season. This was not any ordinary pep rally, but one filled with fright, scrimmages and hot wings.

The pep rally began with an introduction of the spring athletes. Then, after the introduction, the “undead” cheerleaders came up from the grave to take the gym floor in their haunted routine.

Cheerleader Mary Margaret Bailey said, “Well, it's not everyday you get to dress up like a zombie. Practicing for the performance was a lot of fun for us and overall, I really enjoyed it.”

Following the men and women's teams introductions, the Lady Warrrior basketball team participated in a 10-minute scrimmage.

The Centralettes (pictured in the background) then took the crowd from Bracken-Wood Gym in Decatur to a Burlesque Lounge in Los Angeles, Calif. from the 2010 movie Burlesque. As they danced to a medley of songs from the hit movie, the crowd watched in astonishing awe at the sparkling dresses, feather boas and the outrageous moves.

Next, students dressed as Greeks, Minions and many other spooky or not so spooky characters all competed to see who had the best costume. While robed in togas, Kennon Craft, Nicholas Breland and Mason Boyer lifted their arms in victory not with a shout of “we are Spartans,” but with a shout of “we are the winners.”

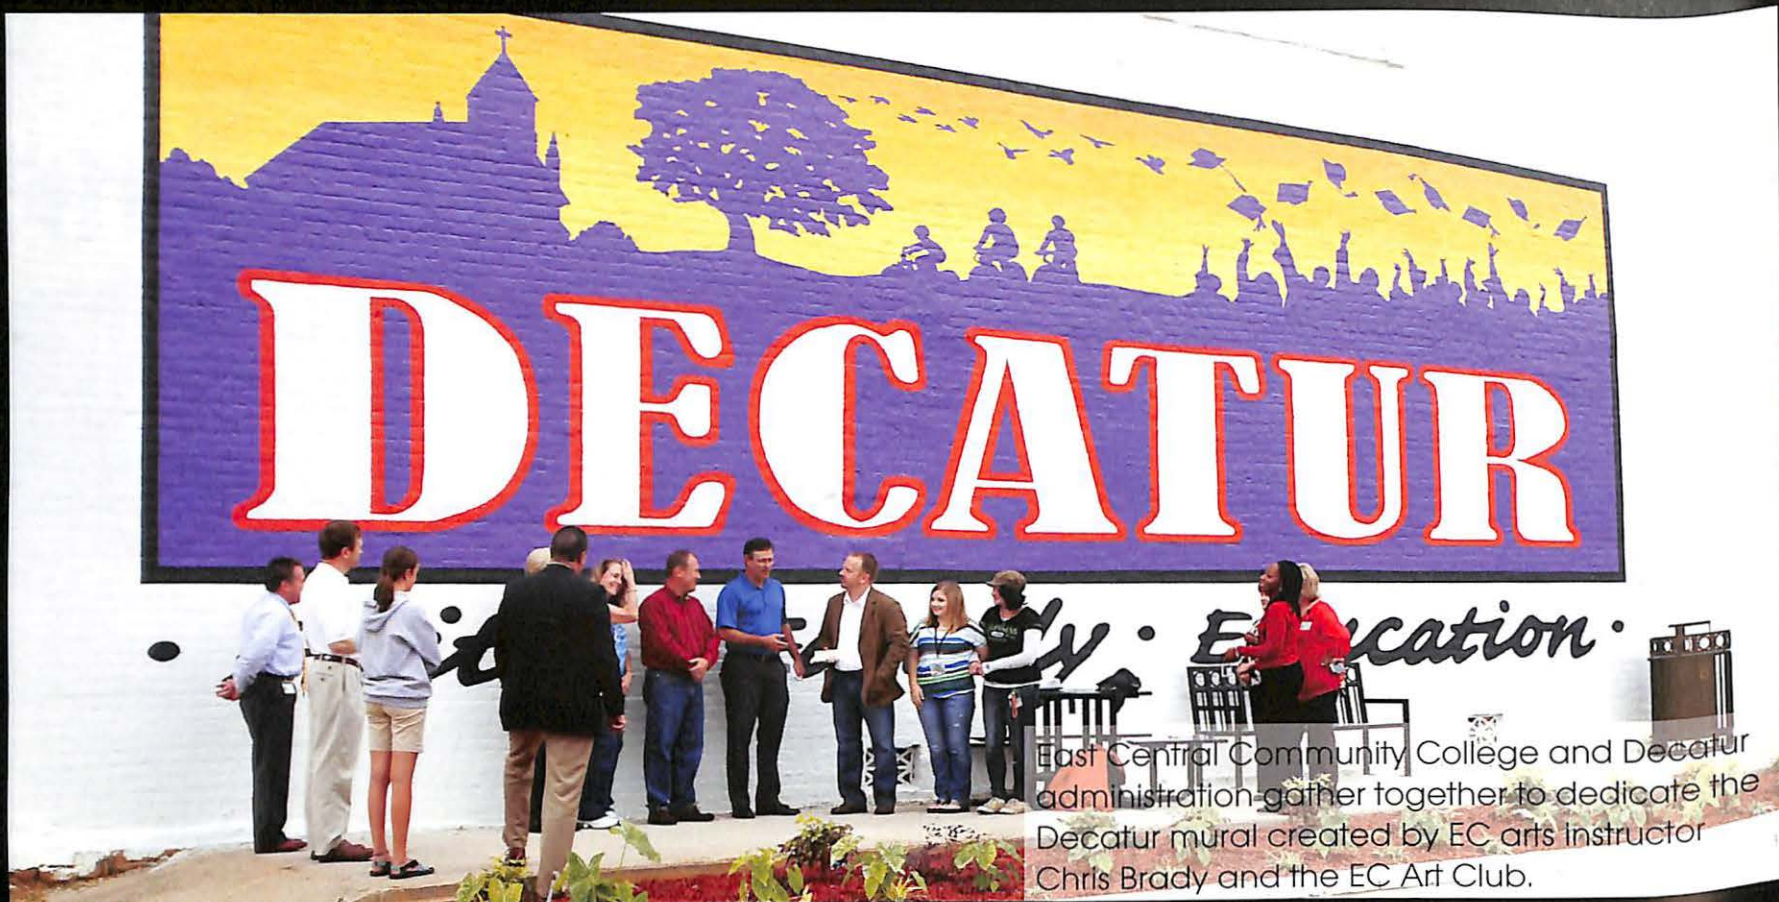

In another 10-minute scrimmage, the Warrior basketball team competed against one another.

New head coach of the Warrior basketball team Robert Thompson said, “I thought Haunted House of Hoops was a great event for everyone. The players really seemed to enjoy the atmosphere. So, we are looking forward to a great season.”

Finally, the Wall O'Sound Drumline got funky with several drum cadences and this year's drum feature “Funky Nassau.”

The crowd then stood in line not for the sweet treats, but for hot wings catered by Valley Food Services.

Not only did the pep rally fill the crowd with chills and thrills, but also, got the EC community ready for some Warrior basketball.

About the Gold Town

By DEEJAY ROLISON, assistant editor

The golden town of Decatur, Mississippi is home to a variety of people. Teachers, mechanics and nurses all call this place home, but the main staple that puts this small town on the map is East Central Community College.

Decatur was founded in 1836 due to Newton County being formed as a separate entity from Neshoba County. The town, which is the Newton County seat, was named after war hero Stephen Decatur, Jr.

In 1928, the college was founded and began the rise of this small town in rural Mississippi.

East Central began bringing more than just the ideals of higher education, it brought a diversity to the town that Decatur had never seen before, and it helped the town grow into the small town melting pot that it is today.

Prominent resident of Decatur, Judge Jan Addy, is passionate about the small town.

"East Central brings a good revenue into the town and Decatur offers several venues and rental properties for the school to use. Plus, without the students at East Central, I probably wouldn't have a job," Addy said jokingly.

Ovid Vickers, long-time English Instructor at East Central, has had his heart in Decatur for a long time.

"It's my adopted home; I started living here when I was 25 and I'll be 84 on my next birthday. I was married here, my children were born and raised here, I've spent the majority of my life here, and my wife and children were all educated at East Central."

"Decatur has not changed a great deal, it's the same little town it was 50 years ago," Vickers said. "It's a very friendly town, and the people tend to look after each other."

He was open about Decatur relying on East Central and other staples in the town.

"If Decatur wasn't the county seat and didn't have East Central, it'd be a detriment to the town."

East Central and Decatur have been co-existing for nearly a century and the two have successfully managed to create a place where students, parents, educators, and senior citizens all coincide together with ease. The two have a glowing history in their rear-view and an even brighter future ahead of them as they both continue to grow and prosper.

An Evening with Herman Boone

To become a team is to become a group of people with one vision, one objective and hopefully one heartbeat. That's the way the world will expect them. Not with an 'I' mentality but with that of a person who believes totally in teamwork... and excellence along the way."

This was one of many inspirational quotes that Herman Boone, the legendary head football coach at T. C. Williams High School in Alexandria, Va., and the inspiration behind the 2000 blockbuster movie Remember the Titans, said before a packed Huff Auditorium on Wednesday, Nov. 20, 2013.

Coach Boone said his 1971 state champion Titans squad "broke the mold" and showed the world how to become a "team" through adversity.

The 1971 Titans were the first integrated team at the school, where controversy developed from the selection of Boone as head coach instead of a popular white coach.

"When we started talking about starting a series of 'An Evening With', I couldn't think of anybody who embodies what we're all about more than Herman Boone," said President Dr. Billy Stewart. "We talk about our core values of excellence and accountability and respect... he embodies those."

"The movie was not about

Former T.C. Williams High School Coach Herman Boone answers questions about his experience with coaching the Titans.

football....but more about the importance of working together as a team to accomplish a goal," Coach Boone stated during his 90-minute presentation.

Boone showed a clip from the movie starring two-time Academy Award winner Denzel Washington who portrayed Boone.

Coach Boone later participated in a question and answer session led by Dr. Billy Stewart.

In one question regarding the accuracy of the movie, Boone replied that some scenes from the movie "were not entirely accurate" and were changed by "Hollywood" as a profit motive.

Activities concluded with Coach Boone signing autographs and posing for photos during a reception in the Molly McGee Gold Room in Mabry Memorial Cafeteria.

Happy Fall, Y'all

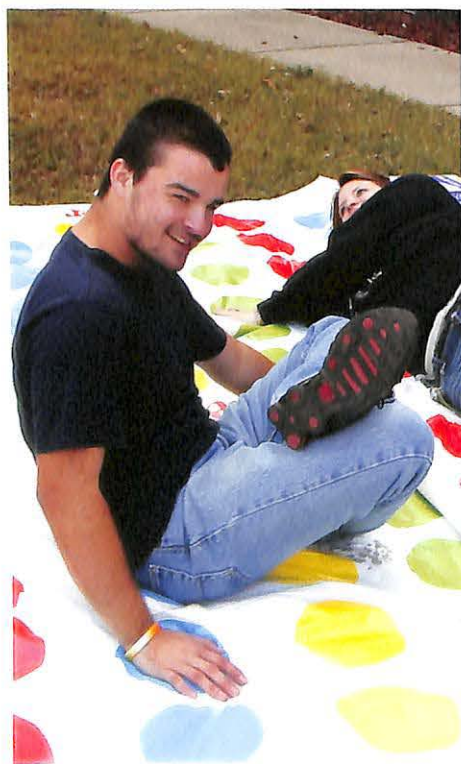

By EMILY COOK, assistant editor

The cool windy afternoon on November 12 didn't stop EC students from coming out and enjoying the annual Fall Festival. With classes done for the day, many students came to enjoy their free time with friends while participating in the activities that were held just for them.

With different clubs and organizations supplying the fun and refreshments, students enjoyed everything from riding a mechanical bull to eating popcorn while watching a traditional tribal dance performed by troop members of the Mississippi Band of Choctaw Indians.

Although try as it might, the wind did not keep some students from rolling around while attempting to get their left hand on green in a game of twister. Others who were more brave attempted to last eight seconds on the mechanical bull. Many had fun while bungee jumping. Students also participated in the candy walk in hopes of being the lucky winner of a prize. Some stood by while eating their refreshments to take it all in. The drums from the members of the troop kept a continual flow of music throughout the cool fall air.

The fall festival indeed brightened the cloudy day for all who attended. The many exciting activities helped everyone to forget the weather and make it into a happy fall day, making this year's Fall Festival another success.

Bon Appetit from Bon Appetit

By CONOR BELL, editor

A centerpiece cake, potato-parmesan poppers, bacon-wrapped asparagus and a nice, cold cup of punch is just a handful of treats and h'orderves that Bon Appetit prepares for various school functions and receptions.

"Catering school functions is difficult when you don't have any reception hall remotely near the department," said Bon Appetit sponsor and Culinary Arts instructor Chef Barry Karrh, "But, it teaches my students resilience and survival skills for our industry."

This group of smiling and energetic young chefs have catered for many campus receptions including the Humanities Council Program, An Evening with Herman Boone and many more.

"It's a blast [catering receptions]," said Bon Appetit President Chris Trammill, "Preparation is half the fun. Using colors and shapes with food is something I've never started thinking about until I started taking classes and since then, there is no limit to what you can do."

Bon Appetit does not only cater the food for the campus, but they also create centerpieces made entirely from chocolate.

But the chocolate sculptures are the most unappetizing confectionaries.

"The sculptures would taste a lot like the wax lip candies that we all used to eat when we were kids," said Chef Karrh.

Bon Appetit along with the students from the Surgical Technology program hosted a Halloween "Boo-ffet." The two organizations invited students across campus to carve pumpkins, watch Halloween movies and enjoy some sweet treats.

Bon Appetit is a new organization on campus and it is affiliated with the Culinary Arts program.

Spring is in the Air

By CONOR BELL, editor

Actor Robin Williams once said, "Spring is nature's way of saying let's party."

This quote is especially true for EC's annual event known as Spring Spree.

EC's Student Body Association hosted the 2013 Spring Spree April 22-25. The week-long event generated great student turnout and all-in-all, was an enjoyable event for students, faculty and staff.

Spring Spree opened with EC's Got Talent on Monday at Vickers Fine Arts Center Auditorium. The night's talent ranged from singing to stepping to rapping.

Despite a steep competition, Sam Lovorn, a vocal music education major who sang Michael Buble's "Fell in Good," came out on top winning first place and bragging rights.

Chandler Smith, music major, received the honor of being a student judge.

Smith said, "Having never been a judge before, I found it rather intimidating at first, but after I realized just how much I love the arts. Being able to compliment and give constructive criticism to my fellow peers was humbling and a great experience."

The event continued with a crawfish boil on Tuesday and a campus-wide scavenger hunt and rave at South Campus Gym on Wednesday.

Then, for the finale, the Spring Spree Games were held Thursday afternoon. Whether it was having egg poured on the competitors' faces or trying to stay on their feet from the bat races, more than 80 people did whatever it took to win the Games.

Physical Education instructor Scott Hill and his squad, Team Victory, pulled out on top as the victors of the Spring Spree Games.

A volleyball tournament was also held throughout the week. Team was pitted against team to determine the Spring Spree Volleyball Champions.

In the end, the Pink Aces comprised of Anna Crawford, Amber Pierce, Aaron Shepard, Austin Shepard, Morgan Luke, Gavin Spence, Hannah Smith, Josh Peoples, Blake Cochran, Jenny Wilbanks, Alana Turner, Hank Coleman, and Hunter Mayo prevailed as the winners of the tournament.

Amber Pierce, nursing major and team member of the Pink Aces, said, "We had a great time! We really didn't go out there expecting to win. We just wanted to have a great time and winning just made it that much more fun."

Smithsonian Selects ECCC for "The Way We Worked"

By WILL STOKES, staff member

Nearly 60 percent of Mississippi high school graduates decide to invest their time, money and minds to educate themselves for work. The other 40 percent go directly to work. Regardless of the path and career, the goal of a person is to work.

East Central Community College was fortunate enough to have been selected to display the historical element of work through the Smithsonian traveling exhibit, "The Way We Worked."

The exhibit is designed "to rediscover the strength and spirit of American workers through rare archival images, compelling videos and fascinating interviews." Several presentations and events were planned to supplement the Smithsonian exhibition.

The exhibition explored how work has become a central element in American culture during the past 150 years through documenting the lives of ordinary American workers. It featured many educational videos, historical photos and informative texts that showed the evolution of work throughout the country.

Freshman Shannon McNeil said, "The exhibit was very informative. I learned so much about how work has changed over the years in our country."

Along with the exhibition, the college hosted many speakers that spoke on various subjects from the poultry industry to effects of the Civil War on work and Work in Literature.

Mississippi native and Apollo 13 astronaut Fred Haise began the list of speakers on Feb. 25.

Haise said, "Looking back, I feel fortunate to have enjoyed the career I have. I am extremely fortunate to have been around during the Apollo missions and to have been included in the program...I encourage students today to try to figure out the talent you've been blessed with."

The presentations concluded with retired English instructor Ovid Vickers speaking on "Work in Literature and the Arts."

"In every profession, the underlying theme regardless of the profession is work," said Vickers. "It takes work to produce, it takes work to create, it takes work for people to live and to enjoy a subsistence that they can enjoy."

The Way We Worked is a part of the "Museum on Main Street" project, a national/state/local partnership to bring exhibitions and programs to rural cultural organizations. It was sponsored by the MS Humanities Council.

The exhibition has been touring the State since October 2013 and will continue through July 2014. The exhibit was open to the public and enjoyed by many students and community members.

Viverrette, Gressett Named Mr. & Miss ECCC

Luke Viverette of Union and Taylor Gressett of Chunky were recently selected Mr. and Miss East Central Community College by a vote of the student body.

Viverette is the son of Todd and Kim Viverette of Union and is a 2012 graduate of Union High School.

Viverette said he enjoys watching ECCC's sporting events and playing intramural sports on campus.

"I enjoy meeting new people and making new friendships here at ECCC," Viverette said.

He said his favorite memory from East Central was being a part of Spring Spree 2013 and Snow Day of 2013.

Viverette said he is inspired by his grandparents (James and Martha Murphy and Elsie Hagan.) "They inspire me because of the lives they lead and the kind of people they are," he said. "I am also inspired by Donald Trump and his desire to succeed."

Viverette is a sports studies/communications major and is a member of the college's chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, the international honor society of the two-year college. He is also involved in the intramural sports program on the EC campus.

In addition, he was selected freshman class favorite and is a Dean's List scholar.

He received an ACT scholarship at ECCC.

Viverette said he enjoys playing basketball, fishing and socializing with friends.

His favorite quote is by Lou Holtz, "I can't believe that God put us on this earth to be ordinary."

After receiving his associate's degree at East Central, Viverette plans to continue his education at Mississippi State University and pursue a career in the sports industry.

Gressett is the daughter of Kevin and Christy Gressett of Chunky. She is a 2012 graduate of Newton County High School.

"My favorite thing about ECCC that it is a close-knit family," said Gressett. "Everybody knows everybody."

Like Viverette, Gressett said her favorite campus activity "hands-down" is Spring Spree.

"I love how everyone comes together to enjoy lots of laughs, while making memories that will last a lifetime," she said.

Gressett is involved in numerous activities including Phi Theta Kappa, Concert Choir, Ac'cents, Collegians, Presidents' Council, Warrior Corps, Centralettes, and Diamond Darlings and she is a Student Body Association officer.

In addition, she was selected for Who's Who Among Students in American Community & Junior Colleges, freshman class favorite, sophomore class president and was a freshman and sophomore homecoming maid.

She received achievement recognition, ACT, Polk and Jennie Pace and Junior Miss scholarships at ECCC.

When asked where she could be found "hanging out" on campus, Gressett said, "Who has time to 'hang-out?' You can find me working in financial aid!"

Gressett said her parents inspire her.

"No matter what obstacle comes their way, they always push through. They have taught me to never settle for less and to reach for the stars," she said. "They have also taught me that if I keep my eyes locked on the Savior, then I can achieve all through Him."

Gressett is a liberal arts major, but plans to attend the University of Southern Mississippi and earn a bachelor's degree in nursing before attending the anesthesia school at USM to become a nurse anesthetist.

She said she enjoys singing and spending time with family in her free time.

Her favorite scripture is Psalms 56:3: "What time I am afraid, I will trust in thee."

"When life gets crazy, this particular verse reminds me where my trust lies," Gressett said. "It puts me at great ease knowing that I have a God bigger than any issue or obstacle that comes my way. It's then that I know nothing is impossible."

Choral/vocal music instructor Vicki Blaylock of Newton, who also serves as Chairperson of the Division of Fine Arts, was selected as the 2013 Mississippi Humanities Council Teacher of the Year at East Central Community College.

Each year, the Mississippi Humanities Council honors one faculty member from each of the state's community colleges and four-year colleges and universities.

In recognition of her selection, Blaylock presented a program entitled "Music: The Ripple Effect" in Vickers Fine Arts Center Auditorium. She discussed the importance of music both economically and culturally as well as the importance of music education. She also performed several musical selections.

Blaylock joined the ECCC faculty in 2000 and has 31 years experience in music education. She has taught keyboard, voice and music education courses and currently serves as director of the Concert Choir and Ac'cents show choir.

She was recently elected president of the Mississippi Community and Junior College Choral Association and in 2003 was selected a Lamplighter, which honors outstanding community and junior college faculty throughout the state.

Blaylock received her bachelor's degree in music education from Delta State University and the master's degree in music education from Mississippi College. She also has completed Kodaly Level I Certification.

She is married to Ronnie Blaylock and they have two children, Clanton and Anna Rose, who are both graduates of East Central Community College.

The 2013 Humanities Council Award Recipient Vicki Blaylock sings "My Tribute" in her program's finale.

2013 Lamplighters

The instructors selected as this year's Lamplighters are Christy Savell, associate degree nursing; Lynn Selman, special populations mathematics; and Pam Fowler, English.

She received the Spanish Club and Cheerleading awards and was also selected an All-Star Cheerleader. McCool is the daughter of Marc and Carrie McCool of Louisville. Fulton joined the ECCC math faculty in August 2009.

She served the previous 10 years as a math instructor at East Mississippi Community College in Scooba. While at EMCC, she was selected HEADWAE Instructor of the Year and chosen a Lamplighter, which recognizes the state's outstanding community and junior college faculty members.

Academic Instructor of the Year

Natalie Emmons of Lake was selected as "Academic Instructor of the Year" at East Central Community College, where she has been employed as keyboard/music instructor since 2007.

Upon her selection, Emmons said she felt overwhelmed.

"I not only have to raise expectations for myself, but also for the college. I want to be able to live up to this honor and strive to become a better instructor."

During her tenure at the college, Emmons has taught a variety of music classes such as music theory, music appreciation and applied piano.

But for Emmons, being a part of her students' lives does not stop outside of the classroom.

"Musicians are different creatures," she said. "When you become involved with musicians, you can't help but become intertwined with who they are."

"We try to see our students grow not only in knowledge, but emotionally. We try to teach them that music is more than notes on page, but there is also an emotional side to it," she added.

Emmons is the director of the college's musical theatre organization, EC Encore. She is also the accompanist for the concert choir.

Aside from her family, Emmons said Gospel music has been the most influential on her career.

"Church is where I get to express who I am. It is an outlet for me to express the part of music I like. It's in church where I get to draw and act on it."

Natalie Emmons

Prior to teaching at the college, Emmons taught private piano lessons for eight years.

Emmons has written nearly 40 Southern Gospel songs and three church dramas. Several Southern Gospel groups such as the Bean Family, the Brown Family and Three for One have recorded her work. Of the songs, she has had three to make it all the way to the "charts."

She is also an award-winning vocalist and composer. She won the National Quartet Convention Talent Search once in 1990 with her sister, Nicole Smith and again in 2001 in the solo division. She is recognized as the competition's only two-time award recipient.

In addition to her associate's degree from East Central, Emmons holds both bachelor and master's degrees in piano performance from Mississippi College.

While at MC, she received the Mary Nelson Piano Award in 2003 and 2004 and was Mississippi Music Teachers' Association Student of the Year in 2003.

In 2008, Emmons was selected as Humanities Instructor of the Year.

She is a member of Salem Baptist Church where she serves as the pianist and music director.

Emmons is married to Joey Emmons. She has two children: Tallie Johnston, 15, a senior home-school student, and Tate, who is three.

She is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Larry Duncan, also of Lake.

Workforce Edu. Instructor of the Year for 42 years yet, she never lost her passion for teaching," she said. "Every child was special to her.

"The students continue to be what I like most about education. I delight in looking into the eyes of someone at the exact moment that he or she understands what is being taught."

She is serving her second term as president of the Administration, Faculty and Staff Association. Previously, she served as vice president for two years secretary for a year and program chair for four years.

Currently, she is serving as chairperson for the Literary Committee and she has been a sponsor for SkillsUSA for eight years.

She is a member of the Union Chamber of Commerce, International Reading Association and State Affiliate Challenge Master for Destination Imagination, an international problem-solving competition.

Cliburn holds a bachelor's degree in elementary education from Mississippi State University.

A member of First Presbyterian Church of Union, she serves as Vacation Bible School Director and Vice President of Women in the Church.

She is married to Gene Cliburn and they have five children: Erin, Logan, Caroline, Byars and Molly Catherine. They also have two grandsons, Mason and Asher. Cliburn is the daughter of Hal and Myra Byars of Philadelphia.

Sherri Cliburn

East Central Community College named Sherri Byars Cliburn of Union as the 2014 "Workforce Education Instructor of the Year."

Cliburn said she knew she wanted to be in the classroom since she was in first grade.

"It was the most exciting place that I could imagine. I rode the bus home, pulled out the Fisher-Price schoolhouse (complete with a tiny chalkboard) and forced my three year old sister to be my 'class.' Obviously, she needed to share in the fun."

"School is still an exciting place and teaching allows me to share my passion for learning with others," she continued. "For me, education was the only real choice."

Cliburn said she is touched and honored to receive such an honor.

"I feel unworthy and a bit like Sally Field when she told the audience at the Academy Awards, 'you like me, right now, you like me!'"

Cliburn has served as Career Technical Support Services Instructor in Reading since 2000.

Before being employed at the college, she taught fourth grade at Union Elementary School and gifted education at Neshoba Central Elementary School.

"I love EC and the people that work here. The Workforce Education Division is my extended family and for this I am truly grateful."

She said her Aunt Wanda Byars had a great impact on her career.

Hueys Named Alumni of the Year

For the first time in school history, a husband and wife have been named Alumnus and Alumna of the Year.

Max and Carolyn Cook Huey of Picayune, both members of the Class of 1965, were recently selected for the honors after each was nominated by a different person and later selected by a committee of ECCC alumni representatives. They were recognized during the college's annual Homecoming celebration on Saturday, October 12.

"What a wonderful honor," Carolyn said of her selection. "I thought what have I done to deserve this? So many others I'm sure have done much more."

Max added, "I was humbled and honored when I received the call."

Max retired in 2012 as CEO and Chairman of the Board at First National Bank in Picayune, a position he held since 1990. Carolyn is a retired school teacher, having taught upper elementary and junior high school in Petal and junior high school in Picayune.

They are also active members of First Baptist Church, Picayune, and have served on numerous committees. Carolyn has also been active in the church choir and mixed ensemble.

Both Max and Carolyn credit family as their greatest influences. "My parents, Cline and Mary Lee Cook were very hard working and always wanted better for their children," Carolyn said. "Getting an education and attending college was never an option. My brother attended East Central three semesters before enlisting in the Navy and getting an appointment to West Point. Both sisters attended East Central and then MSCW (Mississippi State College for Women). All four of us were teachers so education has played a major role in my life."

Both credit their time at then East Central Junior College as some of their best days. And it was EC where they first met.

"I had served three years in the Army before coming to East Central. I promised my mother I would go to college if she would sign for me to join the Army. I was only 17 at the time," Max said. "So when I returned to go to college, I applied to drive the school bus. Carolyn was the last house on the route and I didn't pick her up."

"I was in the registration line outside Huff Auditorium later that day and she proceeded to chew me out. When she left, I asked the principal who she was and I made sure to pick her up the next day!"

The Hueys dated throughout their time at East Central and then both attended and graduated from the University of Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg.

Max completed his bachelor's degree in business administration and has completed additional studies at Louisiana State University. Carolyn received her bachelor's in education and later received a master's in education from William Carey College (now University).

Following their graduation from USM, Max and Carolyn were married in 1968.

They agreed their greatest accomplishment is their family, which Carolyn said includes "two fabulous children and six sweetie-pies." Their daughter, Renee, lives in Olive Branch with her husband, Lance Presley, and three children, Jonathan, Joshua and Payton. Their son, Stewart, lives in Picayune with his wife, Julie, and children, Madalyn, Lauren and Hadley.

Since retiring, the Hueys enjoy traveling and spending time with family and friends. They are currently dividing time between their home in Picayune and a newly built home in Decatur.

Lucovich and Thames Inducted into Athletic Hall of Fame

In recognition to their success in athletics, Pete Lucovich of Carthage and Marcus Thames of Tampa, Fla. were inducted into the EC Athletic Hall of Fame.

Pete Lucovich spent 32 years as a successful coach and teacher at Carthage High School following a standout football and baseball career at then East Central Junior College from 1971-73.

Lucovich, who came to EC following a stellar athletic career at Hickory High School, said he is “deeply honored and thankful” for the prestigious award.

When he retired in 2010, Lucovich had logged 28 years as athletic director and head football coach at Carthage High School, where his teams compiled an overall record of 162 wins and 125 losses.

He led 10 Tiger teams to the state playoffs, and three squads (1991, 1992 and 2007) finished Class AAA South State runners-up.

Pete Lucovich

He also had four squads (1983, 1991, 1992 and 2007) to achieve number-one rankings in the state during season competition.

He also served as golf and tennis coach at CHS.

After graduating from EC in 1973, Lucovich continued his education and athletic career at Mississippi State University, earning a bachelor's degree in 1975 and a master's degree in 1976.

He met his future wife, the former Kay McCain of Eupora, at MSU.

They have a son, Lance Lucovich, 31; and a daughter, Anna Lucovich, 26.

Marcus Thames is the only former East Central Community College baseball player to experience a 15-year career in Major League Baseball.

Not only did he experience a long career, his first at-bat resulted in a home run and he continued the successful journey in a World Series.

Thames, who is continuing his career in professional baseball as a coach in the New York Yankees' minor league system in Tampa, Fla., said he was “speechless” when informed of his selection for the prestigious award.

“When Dr. (Billy) Stewart called me I was so shocked I could not speak,” said Thames. “I never thought for a second that when I walked on East Central's campus in January of 1996 that this honor was in the making. I am very appreciative.”

During one of Thames' visits to EC, his number “24” was retired during a ceremony held at the 2007 First Pitch Dinner prior the Diamond Warriors' season opener.

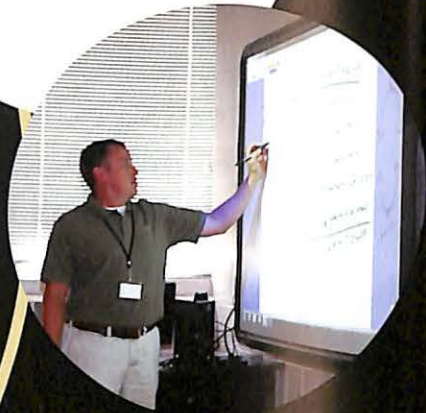

Thames has donated various autographed items to the ECCC Memorabilia Room in Mabry Memorial Cafeteria.

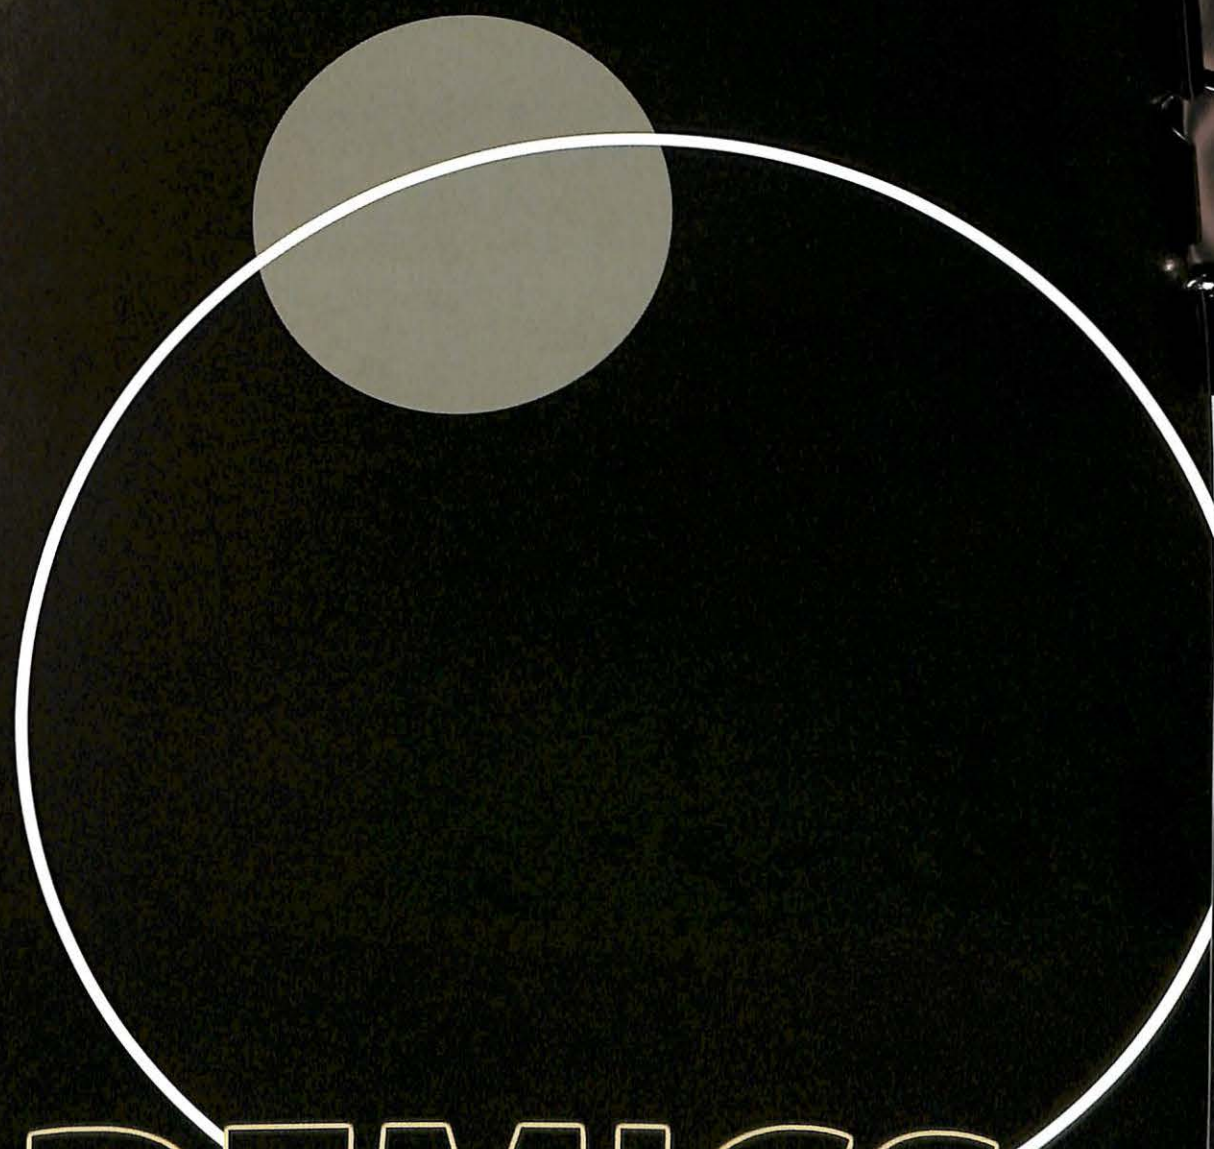

Thames and his wife Danna have four children, Deja, Jade, Marcus, Jr. and Ella.

ACADEMICS

A New Look Around EC

By WILL STOKES, staff member

This year East Central Community College has implemented a campus makeover. College President Dr. Billy Stewart's 2020 vision plan has definitely given the campus an "Excellence with Class" look.

Some of the new beautification aspects include a new sign sporting the new East Central logo, banners hanging from the light poles, new sides walks, street signs and a new marquee. The changes were made in an effort to make the campus even more inviting to prospective students.

Student Zach Morrow said he appreciates ECCC even more, seeing how nice and refreshing the campus looked whenever he returned as a sophomore.

A lot of students said they really enjoy how much more beautiful and inviting it is.

Leah Ferguson said she believes all these updates are just EC's way of making strides in improvement.

"Making something that was great...greater! As a sophomore, I myself really love it as well, I love how the administration has taken into account how the students were walking over the grass and to fix that problem they put in a new sidewalk. I love that... they clearly care for the students," Ferguson said.

However, the campus' improvements aren't just for students, faculty members have expressed their excitement about the upgrades.

Director of Workforce Education Wayne Eason said the upgrades "couldn't happen soon enough."

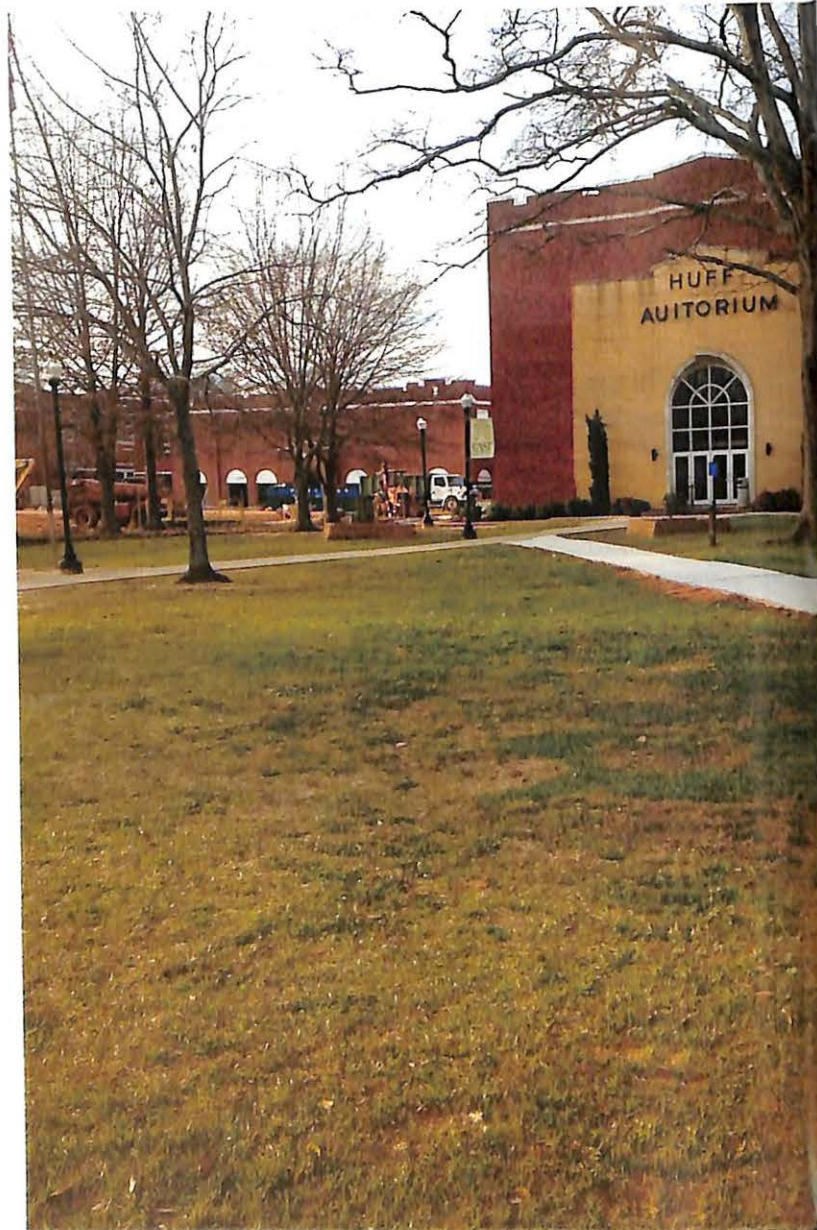

Mrs. Ruth Gregory, accounting instructor, said she really likes that it gives our campus a more positive appearance. "Students are sure to love it!" she said.

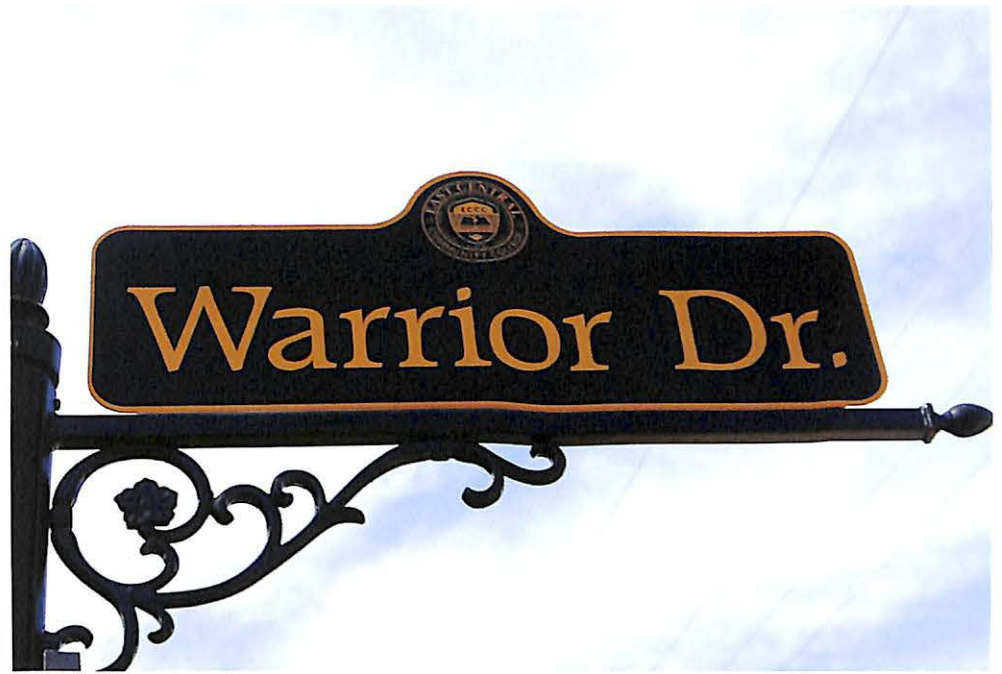

Bookstore employee Ashley Patterson described the upgrades as "great."

"It makes the campus look beautiful! It feels very clean and unified on campus and it puts forth an image of an excellent school," she said.

The athletic department received new weight lifting equipment.

LEFT: The college purchased banners with the new logo and emblem for all the light poles.

ABOVE: Street signs were replaced with ones containing the new "EC Gold."

BELOW: For student convenience, the college had new sidewalks added between Huff Auditorium and the Walter Arno Vincent Administration Building for the students convenience.

EC Offers Tutorial at Success Center

By CONOR BELL, editor

Dedicated is a word that summarizes East Central Community College's instructors. Each week, they donate one hour of their time to tutor students at the EC Success Center in the Eddie M. Smith Student Union Building.

The tutoring is free and open to all students enrolled at the college.

For Sophomore Brooke Wilson, she said she loves knowing that she can go to her teacher for tutoring.

"I like that the teachers offer tutoring because no one will know how to do things in that subject better than the one who is teaching it," she said. "And their times are usually good for my busy schedule and usually if you can't meet them for that specified times, they can make arrangements for you."

English instructor Pam Fowler said she feels she has confirmation that she has done everything she can for her students with the implementation of this service.

"Very few colleges, to my knowledge, offer students the advantage of free tutoring performed by faculty with master's, specialist's and doctorate degrees. The Success Center is a great example of East Central's devotion and dedication to each and every student registered."

With East Central's vision for the future being "Excellence with Class," the Success Center is just one of the many advancements in the college's vision for its students, she said.

According to the publication, "...rankings are based entirely on measures of best educational practices and actual student success. Of the eight measures that determine each college's rank, five are from the respected Community College Survey of Student Engagement (CCSSE)colleges that connect with their students and challenge them to do a good work get particularly high marks. It's also crucial to keep students on track to finish their degrees. That's why this year's rankings include three measures that are used by the Aspen Institute's annual Prize for Community College Excellence: the percentage of new students who return for a second year; the percentage who graduate or transfer elsewhere within three years; the percentage of new students who return for a second year; and the overall ratio of credentials granted for every 100 students enrolled."

ECCC President Dr. Billy Stewart expressed his appreciation to faculty and staff on receiving the national recognition in a campus-wide e-mail.

"I want to be the first to congratulate the entire East Central Community College family for this honor," wrote Dr. Stewart. "While we will face many challenges in the years ahead as we strive to fulfill the commitments of 2020 Vision the EC Way - Excellence with Class, we are on our way to achieving our vision of being nationally recognized!"

Dr. Stewart also challenged the faculty and staff to reach even greater heights in providing a quality education for East Central students.

"Our faculty and staff will be encouraged by this great recognition, but they will also be motivated to continue to provide excellent learning opportunities for the students and communities we are called and blessed to serve," said Dr. Stewart. "At East Central, we are all in the business of student success. Therefore, we will always strive to provide high quality educational and training programs and services that provide the greatest impact on the teaching and learning process."

The Washington Monthly is a bimonthly, nonprofit magazine of United States politics and government based in Washington, D.C. Its annual college and university rankings began as a research report in 2005 and according to the publication, "We give high marks to institutions that enroll low-income students, help them graduate, and don't charge them an arm and a leg to attend....Our rankings aim to identify institutions that are acting on behalf of the true public trust."

Blessing. Serving. Uniting.: More to the Baptist Student Union

By Samantha Morgan,
assistant editor

Baptist Student Union (BSU) is the traditional name of a college-level organization that can be found on many college campuses in the United States and Canada. This ministry is a group of students, faculty members, and staff who are seeking to grow in their faith and to reach the world. BSU is mainly composed of Baptists and Southern Baptists, but also open to people of other Christian denominations, as well as those that do not profess any religion at all.

It is also an organization known to host campus- and student-led events as part of their outreach including retreats, Bible studies and mission trips. One major way East Central Community College's BSU reaches out to different people is through the Way Team.

The Way Team is a branch of the BSU that includes Praise Band, drama and interpretive movement. The group travels to churches and other civic organizations every week of the second semester. When traveling to churches, a love offering is taken and the money goes to help summer missionaries.

According to Joseph Aulds, a sophomore, "Being part of such an influential group such as the Way Team is a great honor. Being able to lead others in worship is a major responsibility but also a blessing."

This is a completely student led ministry; they travel to churches, lead worship and have a speaker. The Praise Band attempts to pick music that speaks to both young and old alike. The Praise Band plays Contemporary Christian Music and consists of drums, bass, keyboard, acoustic guitar and vocalists.

The Praise Band also does not underestimate the skills of the sound and computer technicians. With the help of this crew, the group is able to bring a better show to the stage.

However, the Praise Band is not the only group that incorporates technology to witness to others. The drama team, with the help of technology, performs skits that are designed to draw people closer to Christ. Many skits have themes that illuminate common sins and how people should trust Jesus.

The main goal of the Way Team is to make Christ known.

First Corinthians 12:12 says, "The human body has many parts, but the many parts make up one whole body. So it is with the body of Christ."

Colton Horne plays the drums at the Baptist Student Union's weekly 8:31 service.

Members of the BSU Drama Team lead students in worship.

The Show that Really Hits the Field

By CONOR BELL, editor

The game is not the only thing played on the field at Bailey Stadium. When the clock sounds to end the first half, the Wall O'Sound Band takes its place to march its halftime show. This year the band performed rip-roaring arrangements of music from the 1980 movie The Blues Brothers.

To start, the band scattered onto the field while police lights lit the stadium. During all this commotion, the pit and a small horn ensemble played "I Can't Turn You Loose." During the big finale, the whole band cranked up the volume leading into "Soul Man."

Up next, the "Sultry Ladies of the Sound," also known as the Centralettes, performed their dance feature to Ray Charles' "Shake a Tail Feather."

The drumline had the field next as they jammed to the Carriibbean-Rock favorite, "Funky Nassau." Pit members Kara Miller and Claire Griffin served as vocalists for the song.

In the finale, the band came together and showed the crowd some love in "Everybody Needs Somebody to Love."

Hunter Corhern, serving his second year as Director of Bands, said, "I think this marching season was the best that I have ever had. The show concept was fresh. The kids were excited and really enjoyed doing the Blues Brothers. The crowd got into it."

"It was not your typical artsy show," said Corhern. "It was a more get in your face and let's just have a good time kind of show."

This year the band had two new members on the band staff. Tina Sanders of Little Rock served as the Centralettes instructor, and Kelsey Sikes of Carthage served as the color guard instructor.

Mr. Corhern said he appreciates assistant director Ed Girling, Centralette instructor Tina Sanders and color guard instructor Kelsey Sikes for their hard work and dedication to the band.

Freshman psychology major Taylor Townsend said, "Band was a brand new experience for me. It was really nice meeting new friends and plus, I enjoyed playing the the pit."

In addition to the halftime shows and concerts, the band performed at several venues this year including the Veterans' Day Parade in Louisville, the annual EC Drum Tour and many other community events.

The band also hosted the EC Band Clinic where students in the area have the opportunity to compete for scholarships.

Foundation of the Wall

By ANNA GIRLING, assistant editor

In music, the percussion section is the foundation of the band. East Central Community College's Percussion Ensembles refer to themselves as the "Foundation of the Wall O' Sound."

This year, due to the overwhelming size of its percussion section, director Ed Girling split them into groups.

He explained his decision by saying, "The section was so large during marching season that I had no choice but to split it. Compared to the size of our college, our percussion section is huge! A big part of that is because I allow anyone with any ability level and good work ethic to join. My motto always is that I can teach anyone that is willing to learn. I also split them so that the higher level players are given a more difficult level of music. A large-sized group for a band can be a very a good thing, but ensembles focus around a smaller group of people."

Splitting the group had other advantages besides creating an environment that's easier to work in.

Girling said, "The two groups we have are completely different. It allows me to offer a more diverse musical experience to my students, one that is more elite and one that is really just for fun!"

The first group is the Mallet Ensemble which, this year, consists of mallet instruments and a rhythm section all totaling to approximately 30 students.

"We play pop, rock, funk and jazz pieces. What sets us apart from the other community colleges is we play legitimate music that prepares the students for the ensembles that they will be offered at a university level. We are unique. East Central is the only community college in the state that offers a strictly mallet ensemble," Girling said.

This year, in addition to their campus concert, the EC Mallet Ensemble represented the entire state at the community college level at the Percussive Arts Society: Day of Percussion.

The other ensemble offered at EC is fondly referred to as the "EC Can Bangers." This name started out as a joke because in past years, they were known for their signature percussive trash can pieces that are popularized by the professional percussion group, Stomp.

Girling said, "What we are really about is taking everyday items that you find lying around and turning them into musical instruments. This group isn't about how fancy we can play, it's about innovation. Every piece of music we create is unique because of the instrumentation.

"The thing that is best about this group is that anyone can join. I have many students in this group that do not play in my percussion section during marching season. Like I've said before, we don't turn people down just because they aren't at an advanced talent level. I want to give anyone a chance to be a part of something. There are many kids that get their scholarships through groups like these. Why not earn your schooling and have some fun at the same time?"

The Last Great Wall

Jazz is the only true American musical art form. However, many people have a misconception of what jazz music really is.

Jazz music is a style of playing, not a specific type of music. East Central Community College's Jazz Band takes that style and runs with it!

Director Ed Girling describes the band as so: "I choose the top players at the school and we learn how to be even better musicians. Jazz Band isn't just about playing a certain type of music. We learn how to do things that marching band or concert band cannot teach.

"Jazz music takes regular music and makes it more: more rhythmically complicated, more-dynamically contrasted, and more stylistically played. All of these things make each person a better player. If I had the choice of any band to direct, I would choose a Jazz Band nine times out of ten just because it is the most fun."

The EC Jazz Band covers the pop, rock, swing, funk and hip-hop genres ranging from the 1920s with "Blue Skies" to modern hits like "Suit and Tie." With a wide array of genres, coming to an EC Jazz Band concert gives people more than a normal band concert.

Sophomore Zach Peden said, "Jazz Band gives me a chance to broaden myself as a player, and challenges me to play harder music. Jazz Band has a more relaxed atmosphere, but we still get a large amount of music completed. Because of the amount of talent we have in the group, we can take a normal piece of music and vamp sections for people to improve solos and we can add vocals and do just about anything we want to the music! It's truly a unique experience."

This year the Jazz Band performed at several events including a BBQ Cook-off in Newton, Senior Day, the Spring Spree Crawfish Boil and the group's Spring Concert.

For East Central Community College visual arts students, "Make Cool Stuff" is their unofficial motto, and making "cool stuff" is their forte.

Chris Brady, visual arts instructor, said, "My primary goal is to give my students the tools to better assess, analyze and understand art as visual communication. Along with this, I hope to inspire them to explore the world of ideas and to give them the confidence to meet the challenges that art and life often pose."

These students have the task of completing a variety of projects for the college and community including the spring musical set, a mural for Decatur and many other projects.

The visual arts program also designs and sells Christmas prints with proceeds going to Stop SMA, an organization that is aimed to find a cure for Spinal Muscular Atrophy.

Art student Britsol Buffington said, "Being able to be a part of a worthy cause as Stop SMA is one of the greatest feelings in the world"

Brady said his students learn the basics of composition, color theory, observational drawing, observational painting while developing their analytical and critical skills through critiques and research.

John Hausley, art student, said he loves the ability to create something out of nothing.

"It's an escape for me. Plus, I can take something out of my imagination and make it physical for everyone else to see."

To wrap up the year, the art students compete in a sidewalk chalk contest. They pick a block of the sidewalk and create anything from a scene from "The Lion King" to the movie poster of "Les Miserables."

Brady said, "I want my students to learn to think for themselves and to make clearer, more informed decisions about their world. I hope through challenging my students' hearts and minds they gain a greater appreciation for the abundance that life has to offer, of which art can be an integral part."

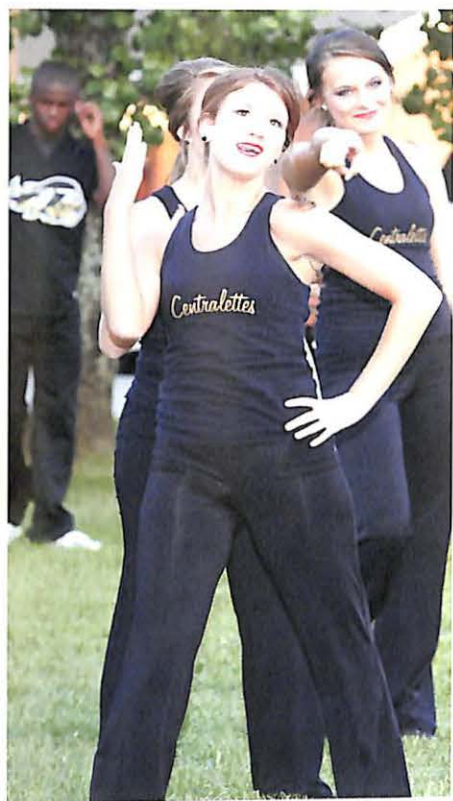

Art in Movement

By EMILY COOK, assistant editor

The Centralettes are seen as the movement of the Wall O' Sound Marching Band. They are not hard to find on game days. With the red lipstick and shiny white boots, they are easy to separate from the rest of the crowd.

The dancing along with the sparkling costumes, make the field come to life as the Centralettes capture the audience's attention. The high kicks that are defined by the pearly white boots make the crowd gape in awe.

In order to make each show the best it can be, they are required to practice. The summers don't keep these ladies inside, instead they spend two weeks of the summer practicing outside in the Mississippi heat. The Centralettes perform every year at the Neshoba County Fair for "EC Day at the Fair." A week before school begins, they attend a week of band camp.

As football season rolls around, the practices with the band continue. This season's football games were full of excitement and once the Centralettes marched onto the grassy stage the crowd went crazy over the Blues Brothers theme. The sparkling black hats only added flare to the Centralettes dazzling attire.

As the summer rolled out, these ladies didn't stop... Basketball season kept them on their feet. The Centralettes entertained at half times for both women and men's basketball games. With at least one game a week, practices are strictly business with a new dance for each game.

The Centralettes' new coach, Tina Sanders, started working with the dance teams at tryouts in spring 2013. She has since guided the Centralettes in all of their performances.

"It's just been a great year," stated Sanders after the last performance of the season. "We have all gotten along great together and it's just been great."

The Centralettes wrapped up basketball season with their final performance on Feb. 10, 2014. The sophomore Centralettes were acknowledged in front of the crowd, and they were each given a gift from the freshman Centralettes. Then all of the girls were rewarded a single pink rose from Sanders for their hard work and great season.

Another new addition to this year's Wall O' Sound Marching Band's leadership team is the color guard and new winter guard instructor Kelsey Sikes. Sikes took on the role as the new color guard instructor and also started East Central's first winter guard.

While the color guard performs with the band and Centralettes during football season, the winter guard performs during halftime of the men's basketball games.

The Rock Stars of EC

By ANNA GIRLING, assistant editor

East Central has more than just Excellence with Class on its campus. The college's rock-n-roll band, the Collegians, have been serving a healthy dose of rock for 32 years to anyone within hearing distance. Although the group is affiliated with EC, its fans and audiences stretch light years beyond its birthplace of Decatur.

This year the Collegians underwent some drastic changes. Their former director, Tom Carson, died from his battle with esophageal cancer. However, the Collegians continued to rock out with the most fitting person for the job, Chas Evans. Evans was eager to make the Collegians reach their full potential, and had nothing but positive remarks about Mr. Carson and The Collegians.

"When I had the opportunity to return to East Central it was a dream come true," Evans said. "I was Mr. Carson's first guitar major when he started teaching here at EC and he was the reason I wanted to come back here. I had hoped to work with him one day, but being able to continue on something that he poured his heart and soul into is my thank you to him for making my EC experience one I will always treasure."

Evans joined Collegians in '97 and finished in '99. "I was living the dream those two years of my life!" Evans said. "The great thing about Mr. Carson and Collegians is that it took a weird kid from Newton County High School (me) and turned him into a campus celebrity. Everyone knew who we were. That's what Collegians does, it transforms you into a rock star."

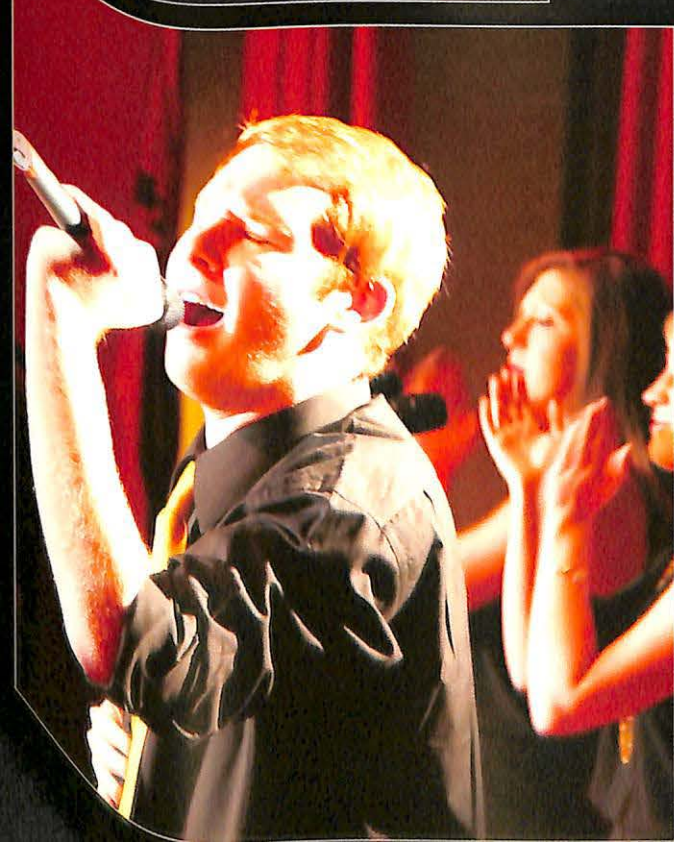

Evans said he was "so pumped" about directing the Collegians, but was also extremely nervous about taking the job, when he began directing the group in August.

"What people need to know is that I'm following a legend. Mr. Carson had perfected this craft over his 30 years, and those are some very big shoes to fill! The most important thing to me was keeping the spirit of Collegians going. This isn't just your average garage band, we are a family. I still talk with all of my buddies from my time, and want my Collegians to have that same connection with each other.

"Now, speaking upon the talent of this years group, I must say that this is the most talent I've ever seen on stage! The members of this group truly are the musical elite of campus. I know this because they all go through an extensive try-out process and it is really difficult to pick the best of the best but I do believe that we have it. The singers are fantastic, the rhythm section is stronger than ever, and the horn players are some of the best student players I have ever worked with."

Keep Calm & Sing On

By DEEJAY ROLISON, assistant editor

The saying goes, "quality over quantity," but this year, EC has both in its choral program. At a whopping eighty-five members, the East Central Concert Choir reached the highest number of members ever known to the group.

Director Vicki Blaylock made the decision to move the choir from the rehearsal room to Vicker's Fine Arts Auditorium due to lack of space and the expansion of the group.

The choir had a successful fall 2013 semester, with a wonderful turnout for their annual Christmas Concert, held Dec. 3, 2013 at Clarke Venable Baptist Church in Decatur.

Among the choir's music selections were "O Nata Lux," "No Time To Die," "Prelude," "Hallelujah Chorus," "Let There Be Peace on Earth," "Where Shepherds Lately Kneled," "Carols of The Night" and "Torches."

When asked about his choir experience, Dominick Fields, a freshman liberal arts major from Forest said, "I enjoy choir, because it gives you a chance to embrace your musical side without pursuing a serious career in the musical field."

Blaylock was overwhelmed yet also excited with the increase in size of her choir. Upon doing research, she discovered that the EC Concert Choir was the second largest community college choir in Mississippi.

"The year was a success. We had a lot of positive feedback from parents and other adults that came to watch the performances. I was pleasantly surprised that we had such a large crowd at our Christmas Concert, with standing room only!"

Needless to say, she is apprehensive for the future of the choir. "If we keep growing, I don't know where we'll have our concerts... outside maybe?!"

Natalie Emmons, accompanist and assistant director of the choir, said she felt that the group challenged themselves more this year than ever before, and represented East Central the EC way, Excellence with Class.

"The choir here at East Central has improved constantly in the seven years that I've been here... almost like night and day how different we are now from where we began," said Mrs. Emmons. "When I came here, we had less than 40 students in the choir and that says a lot about the choir, the music department and East Central."

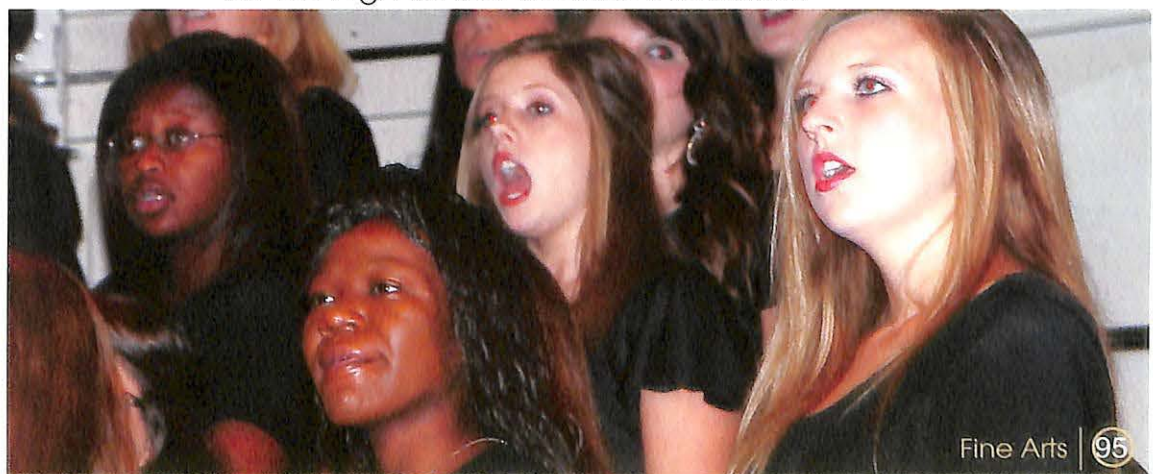

The growth of the choir was a buzz in the Vickers Fine Arts building this year and Mrs. Emmons had a superb way of wording how she feels the choir's growth has reflected other parts of East Central.

"I think it's a reflection of the growth of our school. As the school grows, so should every department and I think the music department is leading the way," she said.

The leading ladies of the choir are both very talented and passionate about the choral programs here at East Central, and needless to say the East Central Choir will continue to grow and get better.

Sing It. Dance It. Ac'cent It.

By DEEJAY ROLISON,
assistant editor

The lights fade out, the crowd falls to a hush, and the opening dance number cranks through the speakers. The familiar showtune or pop number gets the crowd excited as the Ac'cents walk through the back doors of Vickers Fine Arts Auditorium. With mics on and facials at full force, the group of performers march down the aisles to sing the first parts of their opening number before all joining on the stage to pop, twist and sashe.

Needless to say, Ac'cents had a phenomenal fall semester in 2013. The group took on music from artists such as Hot Chelle Rae, Ellie Goulding, Nicki Minaj, Rihanna, Adele, LMFAO, and songs from the blockbuster hits Pitch Perfect and Camp, as well as the award-winning television show Glee.

Ac'cents presented their fall show on November 21, 2013 to a packed house in Vickers Fine Arts Auditorium.

"I thought the performance went really well," said director and vocal music instructor Vicki Blaylock. "Especially after Sam split his pants! A lot of people didn't know it, and that is so funny to me. It was one of the highlights of the show."

The members of the 2013-14 Ac'cents

Krissy Winstead singing the solo from the hit Glee Mash-Up "Fly/I Believe I Can Fly" for a packed house.

Blaylock was very expressive about her love of the group of students she was able to work with.

"I don't wanna say that previous groups haven't been just as good, but this group performed so well together. They all meshed very well."

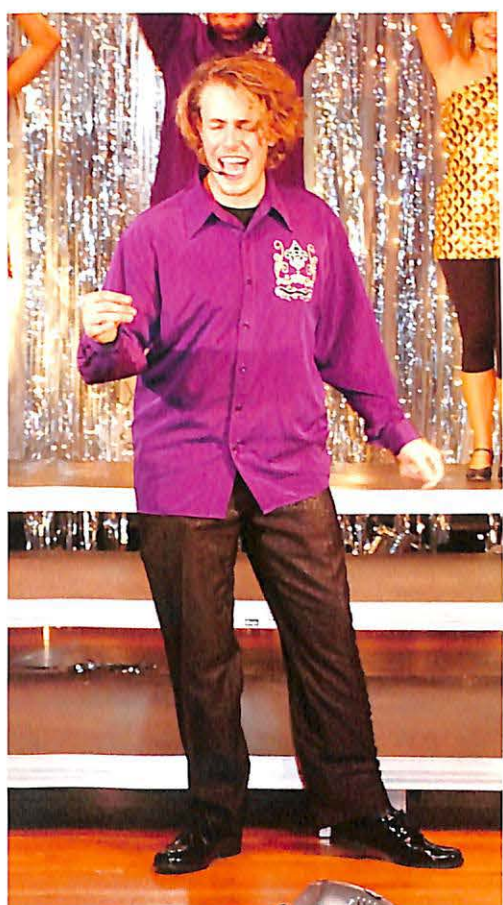

This year sophomore Ryan Godwin was given the opportunity to choreograph the group's stellar dance moves. "Ryan is just so talented and he has such amazingly creative ideas," said Blaylock. "He's such an asset."

The Ac'cents is the college's showchoir, which has auditions in the Spring for its twelve members.

The group spends an ample amount of time together learning music, solos, acapella pieces, choreography, and how to showcase all of that to the public. Ac'cents is a very close-knit group and along with working together, these guys and gals have many laughs and much fun together as well. The introduction of "BOOPALS," a weekly secret gift from one of the members of Ac'cents to another, helped form a bond in this group of talented students that will last a life time.

The members of this year's Ac'cents are Houston Martin, Carthage; Kara Miller, Decatur; Makenzie Rowzee; Hickory, Chandler Smith, Philadelphia; Ryan Godwin; Newton, Krissy Winstead, Philadelphia; Taylor Gressett, Little Rock; DeeJay Rolsin, Conehatta; Jayhonnies Slaughter, Union; Sam Lovorn, Philadelphia; Zach Peden, Philadelphia; and Claire Griffin, Decatur.

Lift Every Voice & Sing

By CONOR BELL, editor

*L*ift every voice and sing till Earth and Heaven ring." This line from "Lift Every Voice and Sing" is what the EC Gospel Choir tries to accomplish when they perform.

Every year, the EC Gospel Choir is a group of individuals who perform songs solely in the Gospel genre. They perform at the college and various churches in the community.

"I enjoyed worshipping with my fellow members and leading audiences in worship," said T'Keya Backstrom, choir member.

The biggest program that the they perform at is the Black History celebration. This year WTOK anchorwoman Andrea Williams spoke at the event.

"Black history is American history. It's not saying that one group is better than another or that one group is more superior. It means that we all have worked together to make this country what it is today," said Williams.

She continued, "The Bible is our guiding post in life and God shows us how to be better and not bitter. Even through His Son Jesus, who suffered so much, He became better not bitter. That's the example we all have to follow."

The 2013- 14 Gospel Choir members are Jeremiah Chapman of Newton, Aleisha Bloodsaw of Walnut Grove, Keona Foster of Philadelphia, Aaliyah Smith of Meridian, Jaron Croft of Decatur, Maya Lofton of Polkville, Miata Tatum of Hickory, Charnese Cameron of Morton, Evone McDonald of Montrose, Daneen Hicks of Louisville, Mercedes Mosley of Meridian, Keyidra Jones of Forest, Contessa Peebles of Philadelphia, Iesha Patrick of Morton, Tammie Triplett of Louisville, Chanobia Boyd of Carthage, T'Keya Backstrom of Philadelphia, Thomas McClelland of Decatur, Thomas Robertson of Forest, Arkeem Johnson of Lauderdale and Quintin Darden of Louisville.

Shootout at the Dinner Theatre!

By CONOR BELL, editor

Bang! Bang! Bang! Mistaken identities, a stranded theatre group, a goofy hick, a desperado, an evil hotelier and many more comical characters can only make up Shubert Fendrich's western comedy, Blazing Guns at Roaring Gulch.

The EC Players presented their 2013 fall dinner theatre production in Mabry Cafeteria on November 14-16, 2013.

This western comedy takes place in an old west hotel where different characters mix together. Everything turns comical when the desperado and the detective on his trail turn out to be twin brothers and meet at the hotel. In the end, the bad guys are overturned and justice prevails.

English instructor Stacy Pollock who served her second year as director said, "The western theme initially drew me to this script because westerns are always entertaining to a wide variety of audiences."

Pollock said the cast and crew spent many hours practicing and preparing for the production.

"Their hours of dedication truly paid off because the play was a hit," she said.

Any Dream Will Do

By CONOR BELL, editor

The EC Players presented their 2013 spring musical, Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat, on April 10-13 in Vickers Fine Arts Center Auditorium.

Through a comedic and musical twist, the storyline follows the Biblical saga of Joseph.

Joseph is his father Jacob's favorite of 12 sons. Jacob gets Joseph an ornate coat of many colors. Despite this being an act of love, the other 11 brothers see this act as favoritism. Out of jealousy, the brothers attack Joseph and sell him to a group of Ishmaelites.

In turn, Joseph is then sold into slavery to one of Pharaoh's chief captains, Potiphar, but Mrs. Potiphar sees Joseph as a different slave. Potiphar has Joseph thrown into jail after Potiphar discovers Mrs. Potiphar and Joseph in the bed chamber.

In jail, Joseph explains two dreams of a baffled butler and baker, and after Pharaoh experiences unexplainable dreams, the butler informs Pharaoh of Joseph. Joseph reveals the meaning of these dreams and instantly, Joseph is made second-in-command.

During a famine, Joseph's brothers come to Egypt for food. Not realizing that Joseph is their brother, they beg him for food. Joseph accused them of being spies. Despite this, he still gave his brothers sacks of food, but strategically, places a gold cup in the youngest brother Benjamin's sack.

Joseph has Benjamin arrested, and the brothers persuade Joseph that Benjamin is not a thief. Joseph then reveals to the brothers his true identity.

In a majestic finale, Jacob comes to Egypt to find that the son he thought was dead is actually alive. Joseph and the cast prove to the audience that "any dream will do."

Natalie Emmons, keyboard/music instructor, served her first year as director of the spring musical.

She enthusiastically said, "My first year as director was very challenging, but fantastic at the same time. [It was] such a sense of accomplishment when the finished product was presented."

When asked about the actors/actresses, she said East Central has the absolute best actors and

A Message from the President...

It is hard to believe that I am completing my second year as the president of East Central Community College (ECCC). Where has the time gone? Students who were freshmen when I first arrived on campus will soon be walking across the stage at commencement exercises to receive their certificates or diplomas and pursue the next step in their life's journey. I want to thank each of them for making these first two years such an enjoyable experience and allowing me the privilege of serving as their president. I also want to wish them well as they follow their dreams and issue an open invitation to come back and visit their college anytime!

We are now a year into efforts to fulfill 2020 Vision as we strive to become Nationally Recognized and Locally Preferred. In September, The Washington Monthly ranked ECCC as the 23rd best community college in the nation in its 2013 College Guide's annual ranking of America's Best Community Colleges. While it is encouraging to know that the nation is starting to recognize the great things happening at ECCC, I see "Glimmers of Gold" all around our college that make me hopeful for a bright future.

In classrooms, I see passionate faculty delivering superb instruction while providing a challenging and supportive learning environment. In those same classrooms, I see outstanding students accepting responsibility for their own education while striving to excel.

Around campus, I see exceptional students participating in organizations, activities, and events designed to promote their academic, emotional, physical, and spiritual development.

In college offices, I see dedicated staff members serving students and fellow employees while creating an atmosphere of teamwork and collaboration.

On athletic fields and courts, I see a quality group of coaches and players that represent our college the EC Way - Excellence with Class.

In workplaces throughout our communities, I see ECCC alumni who point to their record of success after college as testimonies to the quality preparation their East Central education provided.

In the Board room, I see thirty dedicated men and women who make up our Board of Trustees desiring that this college reach its full potential as they support initiatives which will allow that to occur.

The Wo-He-Lo captures on paper the activities and events of the year and will always be there to bring back memories of days gone by. It will also remind us of the many "Glimmers of Gold" that make up East Central Community College. After all, WE ARE EC!!

God Bless!

Brady Depicts History at Mississippi College

Visual Arts instructor Chris Brady was honored during Mississippi College's homecoming activities Saturday, Oct. 26, 2013, in recognition of the artwork he created and presented to his alma mater.

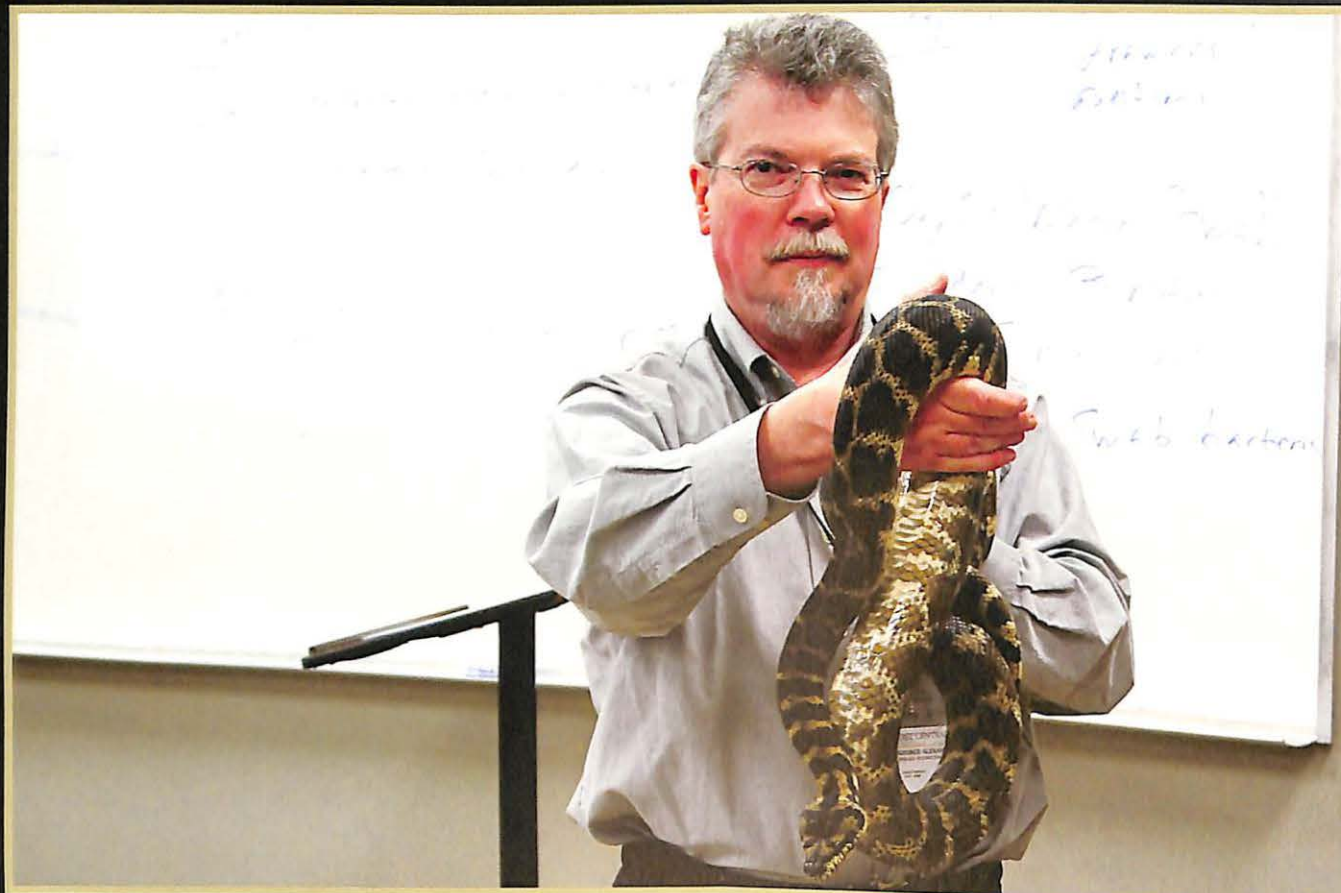

Brady stands in front of his mixed media painting which was unveiled during a ceremony in Nelson Hall, where the artwork is permanently displayed. Brady's artwork is designed "to capture the essence of Mississippi College's venerable history and depict Clinton campus landmarks like Provine Chapel."

Brady used 600 aging photos gleaned from "TribeMan" yearbooks and the MC archives in the 54-inch by 147-inch painting, titled "E Pluribus..." which means "out of many."

Brady is a 1995 graduate of MC. He later earned a master's in art education and fine arts degrees from the University of Mississippi.

Brady and his wife, LeAnne, reside in Ridgeland.

A Good Snake is a Live Snake

By CONOR BELL, editor

Some people live by the saying "a good snake is a dead snake," but for Biology instructor George Alexander, this saying is far from being true.

"There are a lot of myths and legends about snakes," Alexander said. "I like to bust some myths and alleviate some of the fear."

Alexander, who started teaching full-time at East Central Community College in 2011, said snakes are beautiful, elegant creatures that are for the most part completely harmless.

Having a life-long interest, Alexander said he enjoys observing amphibians and reptiles in nature as well as in zoos and natural history museums.

"Amphibians and reptiles are in many ways very different from the more familiar birds and mammals," he said. "There are a lot of misconceptions about them and the truth is far more interesting."

For the ones who have taken Alexander's class, they will learn to appreciate reptilians as on occasion he brings some of his legless friends to class.

"I hope that snakes in my classroom serve as 'gateway' organisms to a much larger natural world," he said.

Citing many Biblical scriptures, Alexander said he believes in looking at natural history and herpetology in a Biblical world view.

"The Bible proposes an active, positive interaction with the world and gives no warrant for ignoring, much less denigrating or abusing nature."

Alexander said he loves Calvinist philosopher R.J. Rushdoony's quote, "A piety which concerns itself only with man's soul and leaves the world to the devil is a profane piety."

"Why do you like snakes?' . . . the answer is simply, 'Because I think they are beautiful.' . . . surely the splendid colors and intricate patterns, beauty of line and motion . . . are sufficient to attract anyone who has a love of beauty and a reverence for life. And as one grows to know them better, snakes become more and more wonderful and satisfying – not only to the aesthetic sense but also to the intellectual as well." - Carl Kaufffield

He is a member of several herpetological and natural history associations including the International Herpetological Symposium, Natural History Network and the Children and Nature Network.

Alexander is married to the former Cindy Fulton and they have four children, Beth, Laura, Anna and William, who are all alumni of EC.

A Golden Story

By CONOR BELL, editor

East Central Community College is a college with a colorful history behind it, but despite its 86 years of success, no one has ever written the college's story. However back in the fall of 2011, Dr. Phil Sutphin, former President of ECCC, asked former English Instructor Ovid Vickers to compile an anthology of people, stories, curriculum and other events that define the college.

"After Sutphin had asked me, I went home and started typing. I then looked at my notes and organized them into the foreword, the founding of the college and the tenure of each President," said Vickers.

After working on and off for a year, he had the college's history recorded into his new book, The East Central I Knew.

In his 40 year career teaching at EC, Vickers cited many changes during the years, but among the biggest changes are in the supervision of the student body.

"There were many restrictions placed on what students could do. For instance, lights in the girls' dormitory had to be out by nine o'clock. But some students got around this by having flashlights that they finished their assignments by or simply sat and visited by."

Though some restrictions have been taken off of students now, Vickers said it is not half as much fun now as it was back when he first started.

"Students are creative and students like to pull pranks," he said. "I remember once when some students took a Volkswagen and took it apart. They then carried it to the third floor of old Neshoba Hall and they reassembled this automobile on the third floor porch."

"Students wanted to see then what you could get by with and now everything is out in the wide open. So, there's not that desire to be creative and do something fun," he added.

Vickers has contributed to several other books including a foreword to a pictorial history of Newton County. He is recognized in the field of folklore and writes in many journals and poetry journals.

He also wrote and read "A Land and a Legacy," a poem about Mississippi, for Governor Ronnie Musgrove's inauguration.

"This book was not a task, but a labor of love. I enjoyed every day I taught at East Central," said Vickers. "There was great faculty and student body that enjoyed a great deal of camaraderie."

He continued on to say he takes pride in the fact that he taught at the college.

This is displayed in the last paragraph of the foreword of The East Central I Knew:

"When I came to teach at East Central, it never occurred to me that each day would hold a different adventure. I would, in the days and years to come, meet the most interesting faculty, teach more students than I could count today, fall in love and marry, help raise a family, and learn more than anyone would have thought possible about people, about teaching, about the South and small towns, and about students. Most of all, though, I would have countless interesting and entertaining experiences."

I AM AN OVERCOMER!

By MADISON HERRINGTON,
assistant editor

Peggy Wilkerson Sims is a 36-year-old, fulltime nontraditional student. She has two children, Aubry, 15, and Johna, 12. Reared by her grandparents, the late John and Barbara Wilkerson in Lake, she has lived in the Scott County area her entire life. She attended Scott Central until 7th grade. Then, she moved to Forest High School until December of her senior year when she dropped out.

Sims started working at Penn's in Forest as a server and has worked there for the past 19 years. Although her decision to drop out has always haunted her, she felt successful because she could provide for her children. Then Aubry started asking her questions.

"In November 2011, Aubry and I were talking, and he asked me, 'Mamma, where did you graduate from?' My kids and I have always had an open and honest relationship, so I reluctantly had to tell him the truth that I had dropped out of school. The hurt and disappointment on his face, I will never forget," she said.

This conversation caused her to look into getting her GED from East Central. The next Monday morning, she went to EC and talked with Ms. Paula Kerr who informed her that the next testing date for GED would not be until January.

Disappointed, Sims headed to City Hall to get her papers for the program notarized until her cell phone started to ring. Kerr was on the other end of the phone informing her of a cancelation that put her eligible to take the test the following week.

Once Sims had passed the test with flying colors, she immediately enrolled in East Central.

"Being 34 years of age, I knew the road was going to be long and hard since I had no college under my belt," said Sims.

Sims will graduate in May with an associate degree, and she has applied for a spot in EC's ADN nursing program. She plans to obtain her RN degree in nursing and work in the trauma department. College has been a challenge because her kids and her job are very demanding of her time.

She has had to prioritize her time which consisted of sometimes only two to three hours of sleep. Although it was a struggle, she maintained only two B's with the rest being A's for her first year. She is a member of the college's honor society, Phi Theta Kappa.

Two people at East Central really inspired her to continue her education: Amanda Walton and Chris Brady. She says that without them, she would not have been such a success in her college career.

"The once scared of failing nontraditional student that I was has turned into I AM AN OVERCOMER! My success at EC will allow a better life for me and my family and for that I will be forever grateful," said Sims.

Dreams and Mustangs

By EMILY COOK, assistant editor

Kenneth Gibson has been overcoming obstacles his entire life. Born with a birth defect, Gibson's legs did not develop properly and are shorter than average. However, this has not slowed Gibson down with his education.

Finishing high school in the top of his class at Newton High School, Gibson said he has always wanted to go to college and strived to do his best in his academics for his future.

In addition to his dream to earn a college degree, Gibson has a dream to own a car, more specifically, a Mustang. While many people wish to own one of these "spectacular" cars, Gibson is going a little farther than just wishing in hopes of owning one... he has set this as a goal.

This dashing car first caught Gibson's eye during his freshman year of high school. One day in his computer class, his teacher had the students do a chart on cars. They were required to find a car they liked and use it for the chart.

Gibson said, "After about 10 minutes of looking, I came across the Mustang and as soon as I saw it I said, 'This is the car that I want!' I immediately fell in love with it."

He said since that day he has dreamed of owning one. However, getting his car has been the challenge for Gibson because of the cost of the equipment needed to make it drivable for him.

Throughout this journey in school Gibson has become an inspiration to many.

When asked about what he wanted others to learn from him and his experience, he very confidently said, "I would like others to learn that just because you can't accomplish your goals right now that you should not quit. No matter how bad a situation may be, keep working toward whatever it is that you are trying to accomplish."

Warrior Baseball Captures State Title

By MADISON HERRINGTON, assistant editor

Lead by their seven year head coach, Neal Holliman, assistant coaches, Justin Brewer and Jack Edmonson, and student assistant Slater Lott, the East Central Community College Diamond Warrior Baseball team made everyone proud to be a Warrior due to their achievements during their 2012-2013 season.

During the Diamond Warrior's 2013 season, they achieved a record of 31-16 and won the MACJC State Title. This was achieved not only by their spectacular record, but also their performance in the double elimination event.

Joining the Warriors in this event were Pearl River, Northeast and LSU-Eunice. The Diamond Warriors celebrated their 4-0 victory over Northwest Mississippi Community College on May 12, 2013 at Pearl River Community College in Poplarville, the host of the tournament.

The Warriors went undefeated in the double elimination event by defeating Northeast (19-1) on May 9, 2013 and Pearl River (7-6) May 11, 2013. The Warriors were the top seed for the Region 23 tournament May 16, 2013 on the Poplarville campus.

After capturing the MACJC State

Championship, the Diamond Warriors won one of two matchups in the Region 23 Tournament to finish 32-21.

Throughout Holliman's career at East Central, he has lead the Diamond Warrior's to victory many times on the field.

In 2007, Holiman's first squad went to the MACJC State Baseball Championship and finished with a 31-32 record.

His 2010 squad finished runners-up in the MACJC State Baseball Tournament and advanced to the Region 23 before finishing the year off with a record of 39-20. The Warriors were also ranked as 10th in the NJCAA poll during their 2010 campaign.

The Diamond Warriors had a 28-20 mark and finished third place in the MACJC South Division with a 13-11 record. During their season, they received national recognition and were ranked as 15th in the NJCAA poll.

The 2012 Warriors compiled a 25-23 record and advanced to the MACJC State Tournament for the third year in a row.

They were also ranked second in the nation academically and have been among the top 20 for the past three years.

Rubertal Cantara rushing to catch the ball for the next out.

ECCC Diamond Warriors Celebrate MACJC State Championship!

The Diamond Warriors celebrate winning the 2013 MACJC State Championship following a 4-0 victory over Northwest Mississippi Community College Sunday, May 12, 2013 at Pearl River Community College in Poplarville, which served as host for this year's competition. EC went undefeated in the double-elimination event by posting wins over Northeast (19-1) May 9 and Pearl River (7-6) May 11. After capturing the MACJC State Championship, the Diamond Warriors won one of two matchups in the Region 23 Tournament to finish 32-21 under seventh-year head coach Neal Holliman.

SOFTBALL

Lady Warriors Strive to Outwork, Outplay, Outlast

Lead by new head coach, Kristin Chaney, the Lady Warrior softball team had an overall great season. The Lady Warriors advanced to where they completed the Region 23 Tournament competition with a 10-4 loss to Jones Junior College. The Lady Warriors played hard, but their efforts fell short against the Lady Bobcats who eventually finished second in the double-elimination event.

The Lady Warriors finished their 2013 season with a 31-17 record under the leadership of Chaney and assistant coach Courtney Nunn.

The season was a learning experience during her first year as head coach, Chaney said.

"I saw a lot of positives and a lot of negatives this season," she said. "We fought hard this season."

"We were especially proud of our starting pitcher Tenna Patterson who led our team in the circle and signed to play Division I with Mississippi Valley State University."

Several members of the East Central Community College fast-pitch softball team received honors following the squad's successful season.

At the top of the list is first baseman Ty Buckley of Philadelphia, who received All-Region 23 and MACJC All-State honors and was an NJCAA All-American nominee in recognition of her outstanding freshman season.

The Neshoba Central High School product led the Lady Diamond Warriors with a .397 batting average, six home runs and 36 RBIs. She was credited with seven triples and 12 doubles. Buckley was also selected EC's most valuable player.

Also receiving MACJC All-State recognition was pitcher Tenna Patterson, who completed her sophomore season with a 16-12 record and posted a 2.22 earned run average. Patterson recorded 103 strikeouts during the 2013 campaign. She is a product of Lexington (Ala.) High School.

Other players who received team honors included outfielder AJ Peeler, most valuable offensive player, and catcher Dakota Vowell, most valuable defensive player and most improved player, both products of Neshoba Central High School; infielder Kaylin Hopkins of Louisville, base running award; Mary Sanders of Vidalia, La., most valuable pitcher; and LaJoya Griffin of Philadelphia, Lady Warrior Award. Hopkins is the only returnee in the group.

Peeler batted .349 with 32 RBIs. She belted three home runs, three triples and seven doubles.

Vowell posted a .383 batting average and had 17 RBIs, one home run, a triple and five doubles.

Hopkins saw limited action at the plate but made the most of her eight appearances by collecting six hits for a .750 batting average. Sanders went 14-5 on the mound and posted a 2.92 earned run average. The Adams County Christian product also fanned 35 players.

In addition to these awards the following team awards were voted on by the team and given: Kaylin Hopkins, Base Runner Award; Mary Sanders, Most Valuable Pitcher; LaJoya Griffin, Lady Warrior and Scholar Athlete awards; A.J. Peeler, Offensive Most Valuable Player; Dakota Vowell, Most Improved and Defensive Most Valuable Player; and Buckley, Newcomer Award.

Coach Chaney was born a Warrior. As a player on the team, Chaney was awarded NJCAA All-American honors. She began coaching the Lady Warriors as an assistant coach to former Lady Warriors Coach Scott Hill. She assisted Hill four years, prior to taking the reins as head coach.

"We are looking forward to next year as we have a lot of incoming freshmen who we expect to be big impact players," Chaney said.

Warrior Tennis Teams Receive National Recognition

By DOMINICK FIELDS, staff member

The 2012-13 East Central Community College Warrior and Lady Warrior tennis teams received national recognition as the NJCAA Academic Teams of the Year. They were also awarded the MACJC All-State Academic teams for 2012-13 for their academic success.

"As for winning the all-academic team of the year for the nation for both the men's and women's teams- it's just another reason I feel so blessed to be able to work for EC," said adjunct coach Diane O'Neil. "I learn so much from the players, and it so rewarding to see how they have gone on to teach others."

The Warrior men's team consisted of five sophomore members and one freshman. Representing the women's team, were four freshmen and three sophomores.

The team began practicing in late August and they all showed great talent and were quick to develop chemistry between each other as teammates, O'Neil said. The official season began in February.

Throughout their season, the team grew as both players and students and were a great example of the Warrior spirit at East Central, O'Neil said.

Sophomore team member Andrew Hannah said, "Camaraderie with my teammates defined my experience as a member of the EC Warriors tennis team. Every practice was filled with at least one moment when the whole team was laughing hysterically."

Even when matches were tough, the team continued to play with class and sportsmanship, he said.

The Lady Warrior's team finished with a team record of 5-9. The men's team ended their season 3-11.

Warrior Golfer Advances to Nationals

By BRADY POWER, staff member

During the 2013 golf season, the East Central Community College Warrior golf team placed in the top five four out of five times during regular season events this past spring. The highest the team finished was third place during the second spring event hosted by Copiah Lincoln Community College in Wesson.

"This team was probably the most consistent team that I have been involved with since becoming the golf coach in that they finished in the top five four times in the five regular season tournaments," head coach Chris Clark said. "Then with us finishing 3rd in the Regional Tournament and having an individual, Shelby Patterson, qualifying for the National Tournament added to the success for the team. They were a tremendous group of kids to be around."

There were also two individuals who made the All-Tournament Team during the season, Lee McDill and Sawyer Williams.

McDill, a Newton County High School graduate, made the All-Tournament Team in the first event at Diamondhead Country Club, which was hosted by Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College.

Williams is an out of state attendee from El Dorado, Ark. He qualified for the All-Tournament Team at the second event at Eagle Ridge Golf Club hosted by Hinds Community College.

The East Central Golf Team hosted the 2013 NJCAA Region 23 Tournament at the Dancing Rabbit Golf Club in April. The Warriors finished third in the Regional Tournament.

Shelby Patterson, a graduate of Forest High School, reached a milestone by making the All-Region Team. Patterson was also able to qualify to play in the 2013 NJCAA Division II National Championship. That tournament was hosted in Scottsboro, Ala. at Goose Pond Colony.

During the annual Spring Awards Banquet, there were two awards which were given to the East Central golf team, the Academic Award and the Most Valuable Player Award. The recipient of the Academic award was Shelby Patterson. This award is given to the sophomore with the highest grade point average. McDill received the Most Valuable Player award. This award is given to the individual with the lowest scoring average for the entire spring season.

Former Indianapolis Colts Coach Tony Dungy speaks during a Press Conference held at ECCC.

Laying the Foundation

Former National Football League head football coach Tony Dungy was the guest speaker for the special event, Laying the Foundation: An Evening with Tony Dungy, to raise money for a $4.8 million athletic complex for East Central Community College.

"The College is extremely fortunate to have someone of Coach Dungy's reputation and stature to visit our campus and community," said ECCC President Dr. Billy Stewart. "I can say that our football program, our college and our community was blessed by the presence of Tony Dungy."

Coach Dungy earlier that day spoke during Senior Day activities on the Decatur campus and later at a Press Conference in the Vincent Administration Building. His comments were mostly about mentoring youth, making sure they set and achieve goals and know how to bounce back from disappointments.

He later spoke at the Neshoba County Coliseum in Philadelphia.

Dungy talked about the many influences in his life who helped guide him throughout his career.

He mentioned his father who spent 30 years as a junior college teacher in Michigan.

"I know the value of a junior college education," said Coach Dungy, who came to the special event due to his relationship with ECCC head football coach Ken Karcher.

The two longtime friends not only share football coaching but a strong Christian faith.

"I believe in the mission here at ECCC....and wanted to do what I could to help Coach Karcher and East Central succeed."

He also reflected on his shared football philosophy with ECCC head football coach Ken Karcher.

"Coach Karcher has the same philosophy that I do. Pro football is great and playing the game is fantastic, but that's not what it's all about. It's really about developing personalities and helping people to be better men and that's what's really exciting.

Dungy, who retired from coaching in 2008 after a successful career which included a 2007 Super Bowl victory with the Indianapolis Colts, now serves as an analyst for NBC's Football Night in America.

He is also the #1 New York Times bestselling author of Quiet Strength and Uncommon.

In addition, Coach Dungy is involved in a wide variety of charitable organizations, including the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Athletes in Action, Mentors for Life, Big Brothers/Big Sisters, Boys and Girls Clubs, Prison Crusade Ministry, All-Pro Dads and many others.

FOOTBALL

A New Era in Warrior Football

By MATTHEW EVANS, staff member

The East Central Community College Warrior football team faced many obstacles in 2013. The Warrior football team finished a hard fought season with a 1-8 record with first-year head coach Ken Karcher leading the way.

The highlight of the season came on October 12, 2013 when Mississippi Delta Community College visited East Central Community College for Homecoming. The Warrior football team pulled out a close victory to help celebrate the homecoming festivities. The Warrior football team played with 38 young men that day and was able to pull it out in the end.

Despite the unsuccessful record, the success came while the athletes learned how to become a Warrior. The athletes grew as football players, students and men.

There was a great deal of success made off the field by the Warrior football team.

Karcher was very positive on the season.

"I thought the players worked hard and tried to do what we asked of them throughout the season," said Karcher.

Sophomore Martin Johnson said, "I learned a lot from Coach Karcher and I grew a lot as a person because of him."

The Warriors hope to build on steps taken to make 2014 a successful year on the gridiron.

"I am excited to build the foundation of our program," said Karcher. "Last year, we were tired after recruiting, and we were behind in many aspects. We know more about the league and what it will take to build a championship program on and off the field."

The Warriors look forward to a successful recruiting season and off-season in 2014. The Warrior football program hopes to keep growing as Coach Karcher and company strive for a championship program.

The Karcher Era Begins

A former National Football League quarterback with 22 years coaching experience began his rein as head football coach at East Central Community College. Karcher completed his first season as leader of the Warriors with a 1-8 record, the highlight of the season being the 36-31 homecoming win over Mississippi Delta Community College.

Upon his introduction as head coach on Jan. 25, 2013, ECCC President Dr. Billy Stewart described Karcher as a "perfect fit" for EC.

Karcher, who previously served as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at Eastern Michigan University, said he looks forward to the challenge of developing a winning program at East Central.

He also stressed the importance of having players who have pride in being a Warrior.

"What I'm looking for are guys who want to be a part of something bigger than themselves...I want them to have pride in being a Warrior. That could be as simple as walking on campus, seeing a piece of paper on the ground and putting it in the trash. Because this is your home and if we can create pride within the program then we have a chance. No guarantees, but a chance."

Having coached on both the high school and senior college level, Karcher said he looks forward to joining the community college ranks.

Karcher began his coaching career in 1991 at North Texas State University, where he coached quarterbacks and wide receivers.

In 2000, Karcher was selected as head football coach at Liberty University.

He served six seasons at Liberty, compiling an overall 21-46 record and 6-8 mark in conference play, including two straight second-place finishes.

Karcher continued his career in 2006 as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at Fellowship Christian High School in Roswell, Ga., where he led the Paladians to their first-ever winning season and a deep run in the Georgia state playoffs. He also served as the school's athletic director and taught a ninth-grade Bible class at Fellowship Bible Church.

In 2008, Karcher was named quarterbacks coach at the University of Toledo. He helped lead the Rockets in an upset win over the Michigan Wolverines, although the squad finished 3-8.

Karcher was hired in January 2009 by head coach Ron English as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at Eastern Michigan University and remained with the program until December 2012.

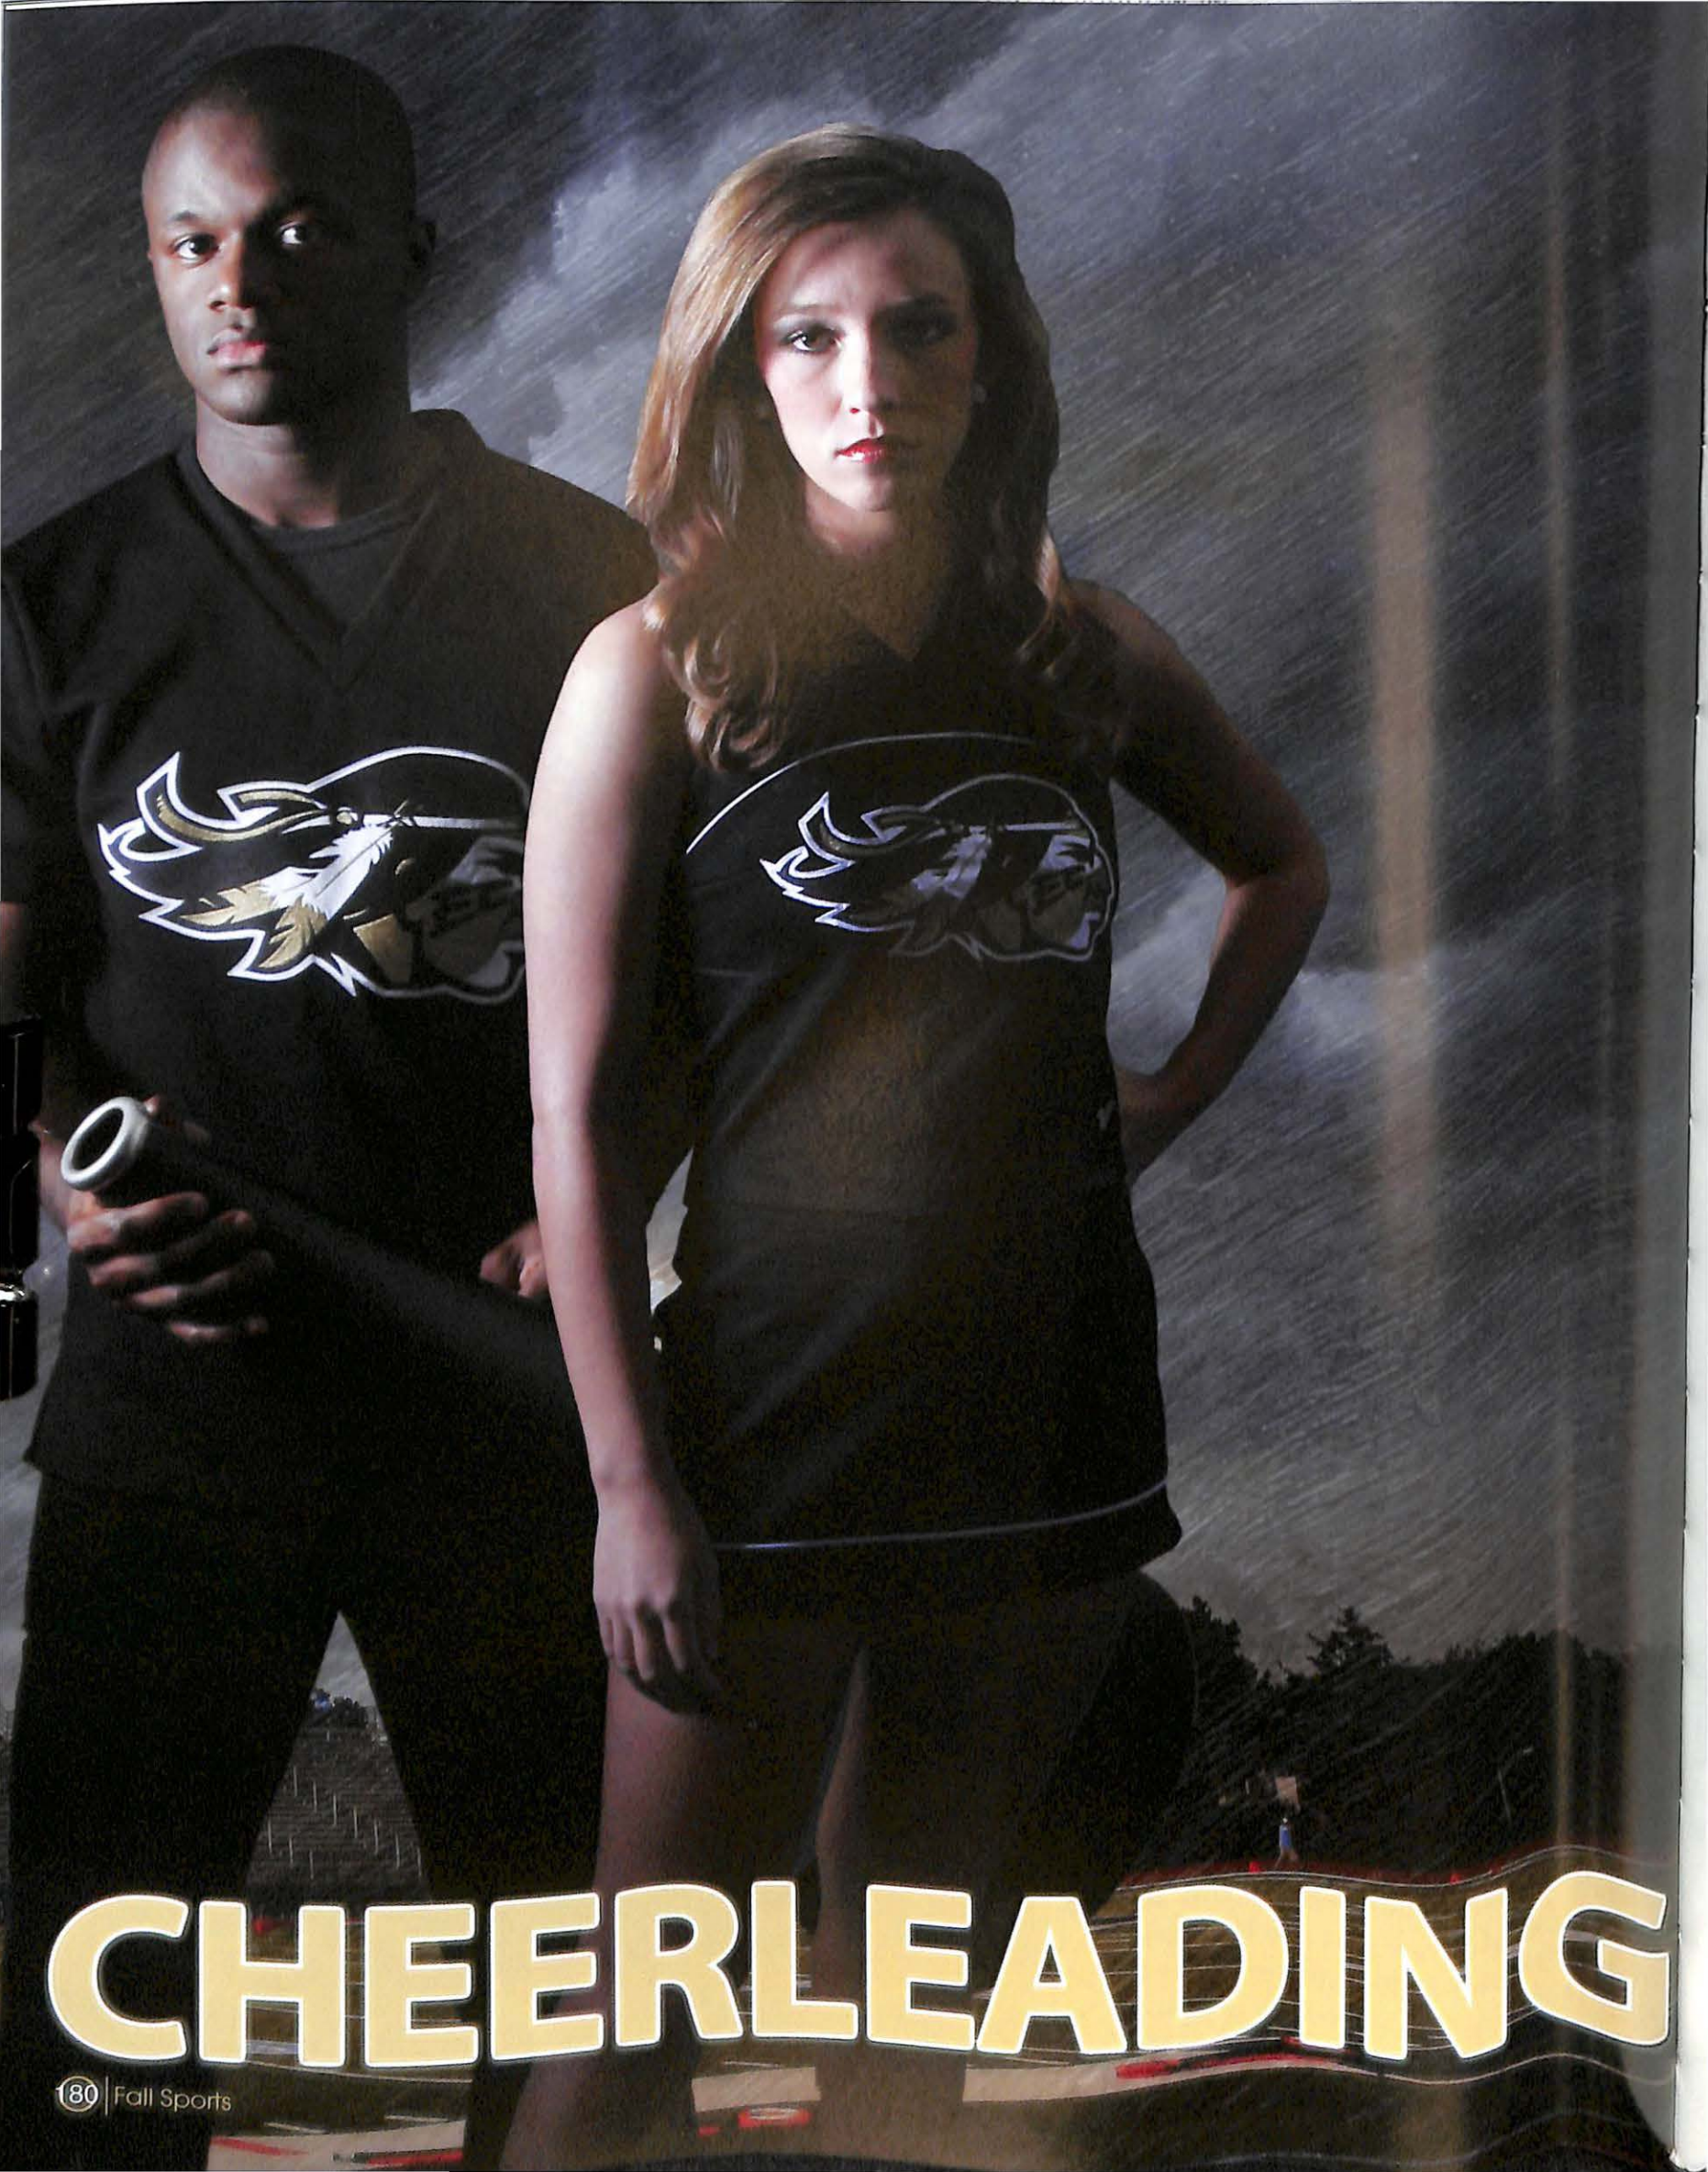

A native of Pittsburgh, Pa., Karcher was a highly recruited quarterback at Shaler Area High School where he was selected a Parade All-American in 1980. He continued his athletic career at the University of Notre Dame where he was a backup to Blair Kiel. After two years he transferred to Tulane University, where he completed his collegiate playing career.

He later continued his career in the National Football League as a member of the Denver Broncos and played as a replacement player when other NFL players were on strike. The Broncos retained him for the rest of the year, and Karcher was a back-up for John Elway when the team played in Super Bowl XXII in 1988.

Karcher is married to the former Pauline Termini and they have four children, daughters Kelly and Katie, and sons Austin and Clay.

Ken Karcher was introduced as East Central Community College's new head football coach by ECCC President Dr. Billy Stewart during a Press Conference held Jan. 25, 2013.

CHEERLEADING

The Spirit of East Central

By MADISON HERRINGTON, assistant editor

East Central Community College's Warrior Cheerleaders showed spirit and pride during this year's fall season under the direction of their Coach Pam McKnight.

Then, in the spring semester Coach Pauline Karcher took the reins as head coach of the Warrior Cheerleaders.

Karcher stated, "I took the job because I am passionate about athletics and young people and encouraging them to be all they can be spiritually, physically, socially, and intellectually."

The Warrior cheerleaders cheered their Warrior football players on throughout their season. They showed their spirit and pride during Meet the Warriors at the beginning of the season, the Homecoming pep rally, the Haunted House of Hoops, home and away football games and the home basketball games.

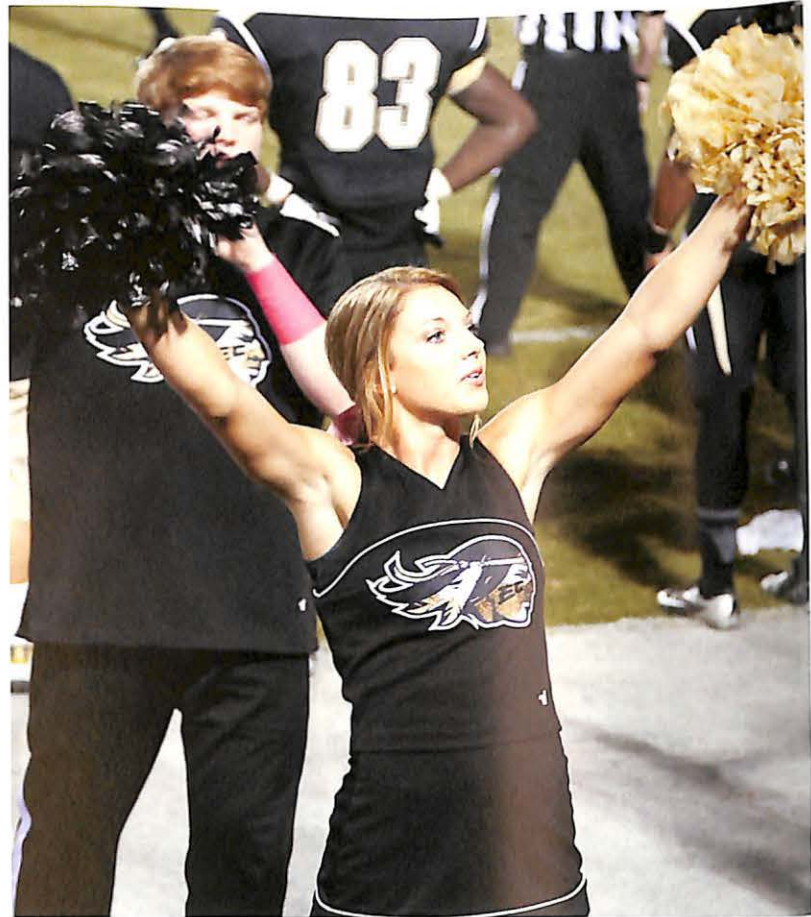

The team also had 13 second-year cheerleaders to help lead the squad to a successful year. These leaders taught the freshmen cheerleaders all of the cheers and dances that were performed throughout the season.

Squads Fight Thru Hardwood Season

East Central Community College Warriors completed their season of play 9-14 overall and 4-10 in the division under the rein of first year head Coach Robert Thompson.

"I was really proud of this year's team for several reasons," Coach Thompson said.

"First, I thought our guys competed the entire season and never lost focus on the big picture. The team made a tremendous turnaround compared to the last two seasons. Secondly, I thought our team cohesion was very good, especially with a new coach and the addition of so many new players. We are returning several experienced players next season and I am looking forward to the challenge of continuing to improve this program."

Coach Thompson, who previously served 10 years as men's head basketball coach at Spring Hill College in Mobile, Ala., succeeds Maurice Bowie, who resigned following the 2012-13 season and a seven-year tenure.

Thompson was assisted by Devarus "Scooter" Walker who returned for his second year as assistant coach.

Jacques Johnson, a 6-4, 186-pound guard/forward from Jackson Provine, was named to the South Second Team All State.

The Lady Warriors finished 8-14 overall and 3-11 in MACJC South Division play under second-year head coach Crandal Porter.

"Youth and injuries contributed to less wins than expected, but we definitely made strides in the right direction," said Coach Porter in regards to his team's season.

Serving as Porter's assistant was first-year staff member Kiara Ruffin, a former basketball standout at Alcorn State University.

Jaleshia Jones, a 5-7 freshman forward and product of Wayne County High School in Waynesboro, was named to the South First Team All State.

Squads Battle, Lady Warriors Tie Record

The Lady Warriors completed the 2013 campaign with a 6-10-1 record under first-year head coach Gray Massey, after facing lots of adversity due to multiple injuries throughout the season. Yet, the six victories tied a school record for season wins. The Lady Warriors posted a 2-6 mark in the MACJC North Division.

"With the diversity that we had to overcome this year, I think we had a positive outcome for the season," Coach Massey said. "I am especially proud of the team for tying the school's record for the most wins."

The Warriors finished 7-9-1 overall and went 2-5-1 in league play under the leadership of head coach Kenneth Thompson.

Thompson said the 2013 squad was a very special group.

"I had quite a few players that I had followed since their very first day of soccer ever as five year olds.

"The 2013 team was the cardiac kids as every game was so close and intense. They were a soccer fan's dream! This group was fun to coach as they were soccer smart and had the athletic ability to compete at high levels as well," Thompson said. "If one word was used to describe the 2013 team it would be easy to pick, FAMILY. They are truly a band of brothers and always will be.

"The sophomores will be missed for their soccer skill and leadership, but the freshmen are a talented group in their own right. 2014 is looking bright."

Included in the 2013 team were Thompson's twin sons, Will and Russ Thompson. Coach Thompson said having them on the team made this season even that more special to him.

"I was blessed to have had the opportunity to coach my own sons one more time," he said.

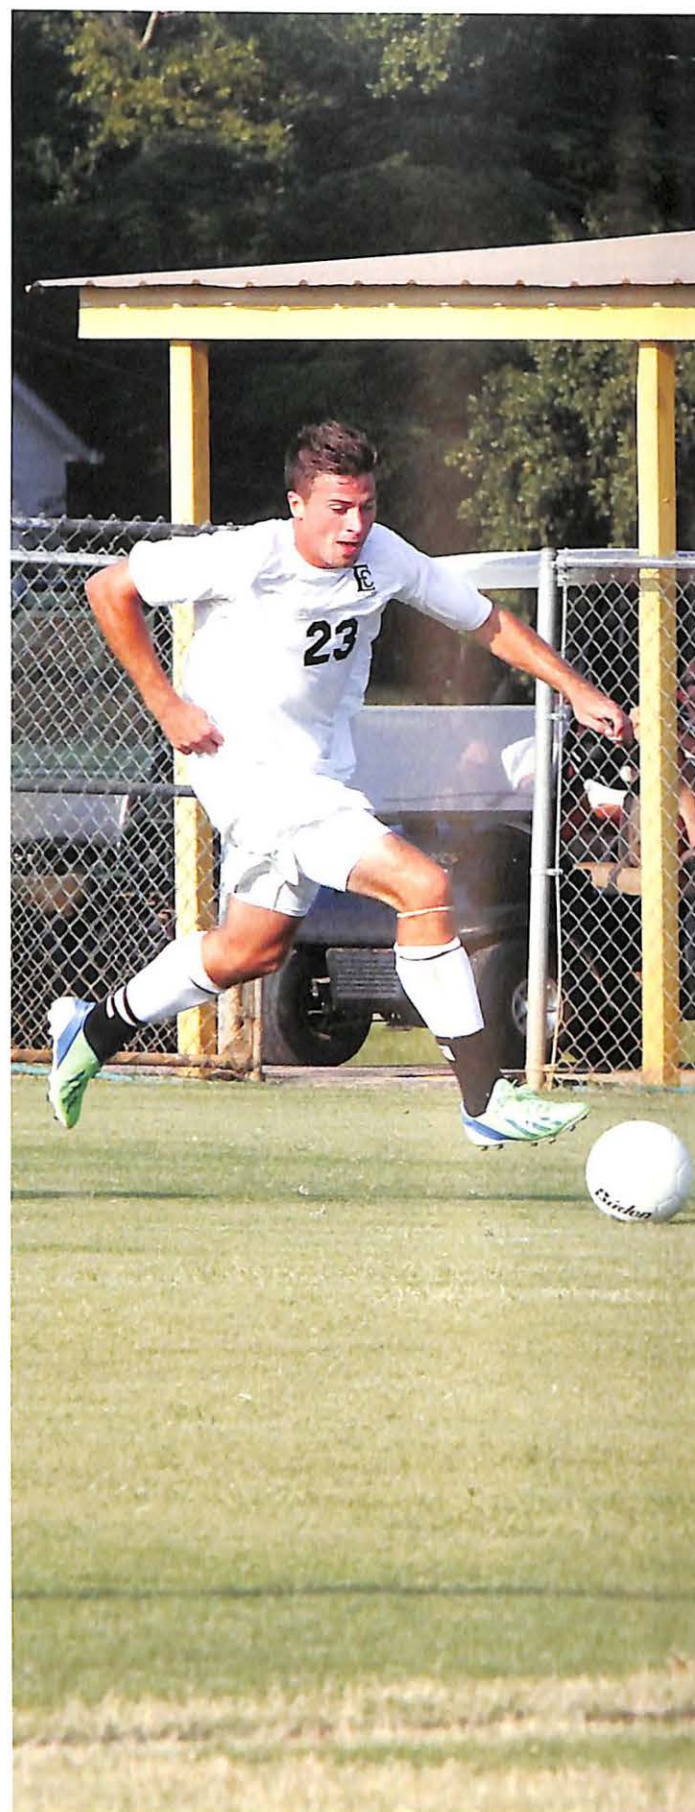

Following the season finale, several soccer players representing ECCC were selected to participate in the inaugural MACJC Men's and Women's All-Star Soccer Games held Nov. 16, 2013 at Freedom Ridge Park in Ridgeland.

Selected on the men's All-Star squad were forward/midfielder Will Thompson, midfielder/forward Russ Thompson and defender Jesse Vaughn, all products of Newton County High School in Decatur. Lady Warrior All-Stars were defenders Kennedy Castleberry and Paige Gower, both of Meridian and products of Clarkdale High School; and keeper Alana Turner of Mendenhall, a product of Florence High School.

Also honored were Warrior head coach Kenneth Thompson who was selected to serve as an All-Star assistant, and Lady Warrior head coach Gray Massey who was named women's All-Star head coach.

DOUBLE!

By DEEJAY ROLISON, assistant editor

Will and Russ Thompson of Decatur have been playing soccer since they were four years old and have always been on the same team. The two of them played together as Cougars at Newton County High School before making it to Warrior status here at East Central Community College.

According to the Thompson twins, their father, Kenneth Thompson has played a huge role in their lives as soccer players. He serves as head men's soccer coach at East Central.

Russ explained the 'dad/coach' dilemma easily, and even mentioned how their dad acts as coach towards them.

"It's alright; we don't call him coach. He is basically just our dad and he happens to be coaching our team. He expects a lot out of us, so sometimes we feel like he pushes us more."

Coach Thompson said this season has been extraordinarily special because this will be his last season coaching his twins.

"I was blessed to have had the opportunity to coach my own sons one more time," Coach Thompson said.

Although being a twin can sometimes be fun, it can be a little complicated, especially when you play the same sport for the same team, according to the twins.

Will said, "Sometimes we get in arguments, just like all brothers would. It has its ups and downs."

The two of them act as each other's personal motivators, they have no trouble calling the other out to let them know if they've messed up or if they could do something better. But with all good things come the bad.

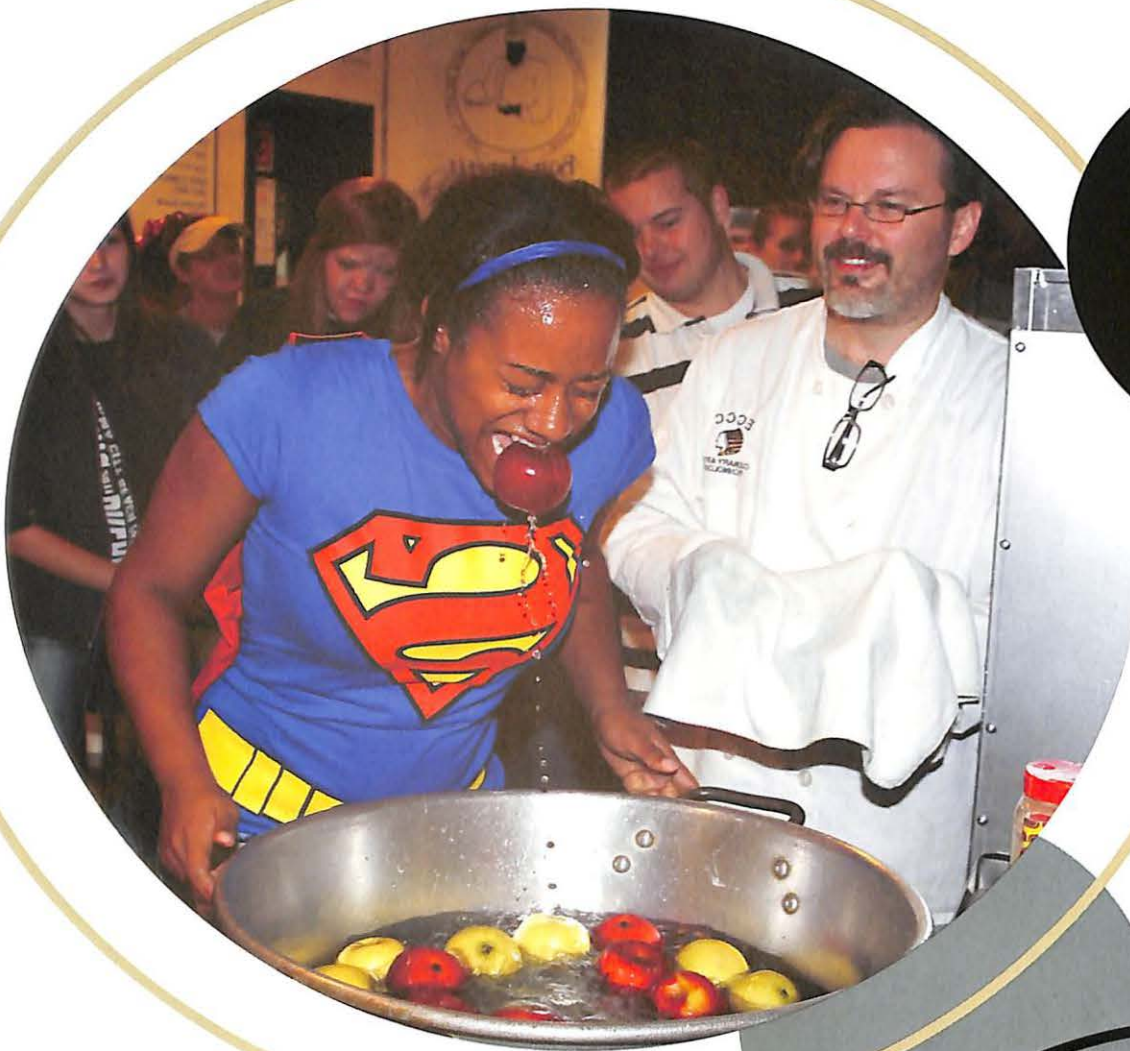

"We get into big shouting matches and our teammates have to tell us to chill out." Will said.

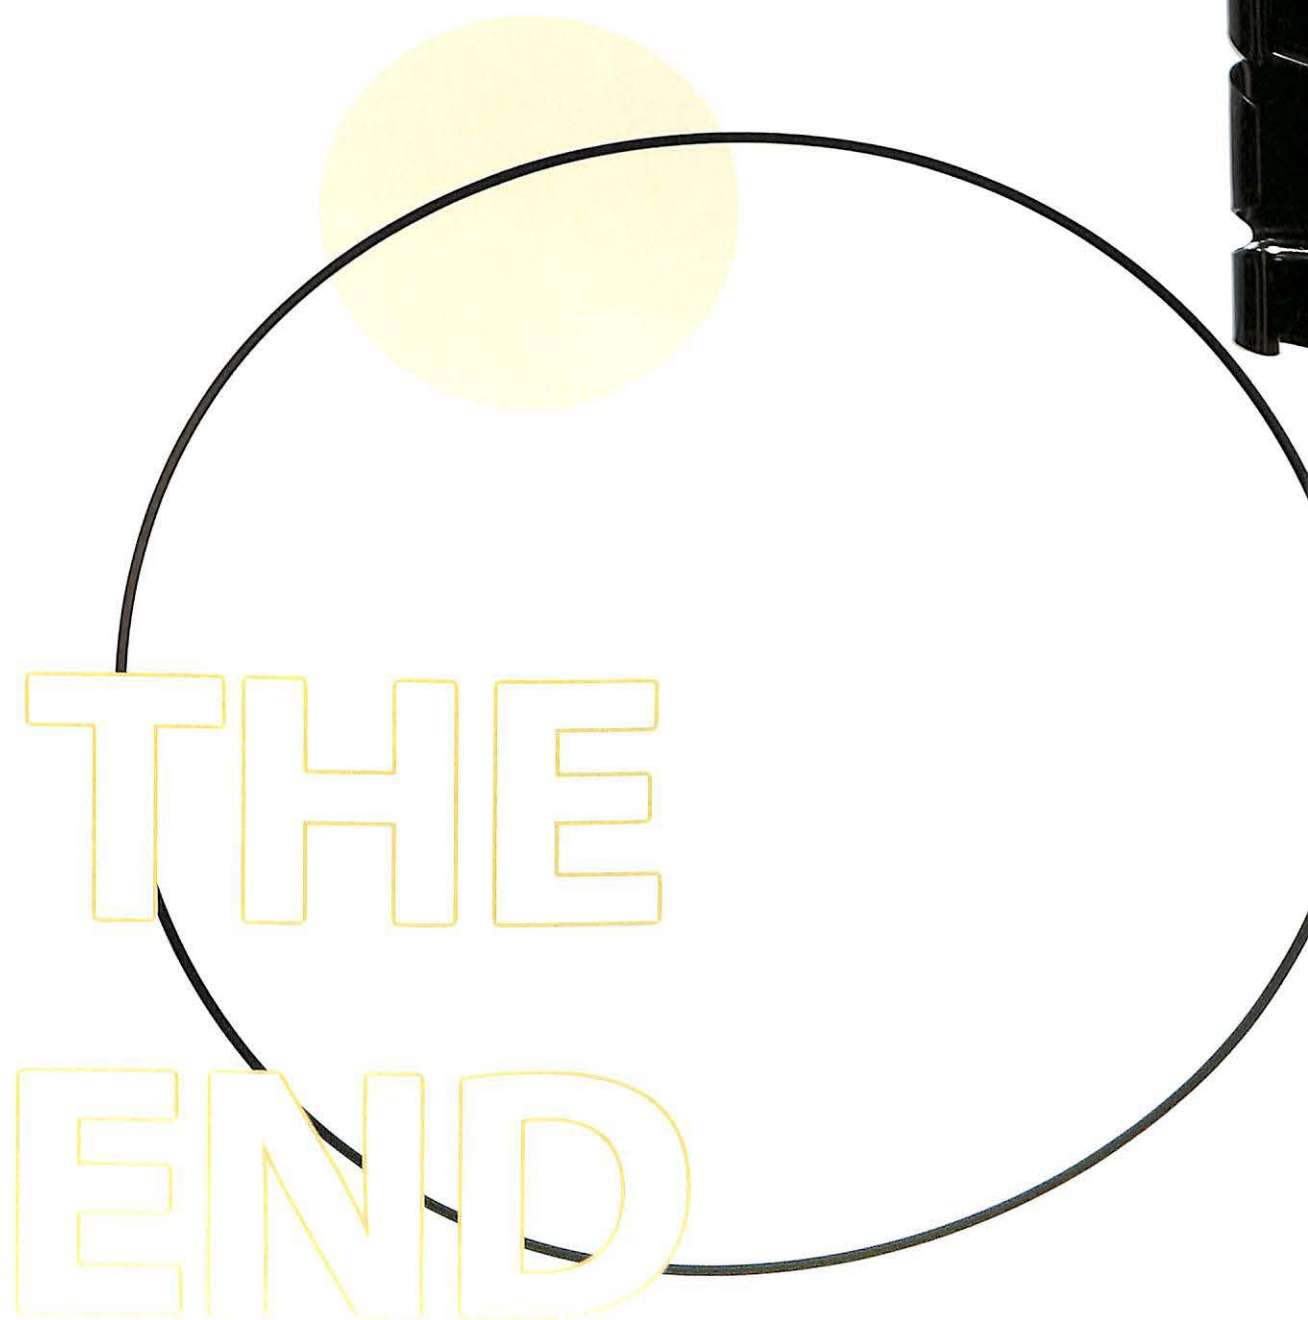

This season will most likely be the last season the Thompson twins will play collegiate ball with one another. Although they are still undecided in regards to their plans after graduation from EC, they said they are fairly certain they will not be playing together or possibly not at all for a university.

Russ is deciding between attending Mississippi College and playing soccer or going to Mississippi State University-Meridian and continuing to coach his youth teams. Will plans to either attend the University of Southern Mississippi or Mississippi State University-Meridian and also continue coaching his youth teams.

Letter from the Editor...

Thirty-one million seconds. Five hundred twenty-five thousand minutes. Eight thousand seven hundred hours. Three hundred sixty-five days. One year.

Learning the value of time is imperative at East Central Community College and we as members of the Wo-He-Lo staff have tried to encompass everything that embodies ECCC in the 2014 edition of our yearbook.

While working on the book, there have been some good times as well as some trying times, but through it all, we are proud to be known as the time keepers and the story tellers of the 2013-14 school year. But this would not be possible without the help of some very special people.

To start, I want to give God the praise and glory for blessing me with a phenomenal leader and a great staff full of talented individuals.

I would like to thank Ms. Gennie Phillips for her leadership, guidance and being a true friend. I would also like to thank my assistant editors and staff members for never giving up on the yearbook. Hard work will always pay off and I am proud that I was able to share my sophomore year with you all.

To Mr. Bubby Johnston, Mrs. Maria McLeod and Ms. Karen Robertson, I thank you all for your help in the success of this yearbook.

Also, thank you to Mr. Kevin Ryals for proofreading our book, to Mr. R.T. Purvis for taking photos for us and to Mr. Sean Mowdy for setting up the risers for our pictures.

I would like to give a very special thank you to Dr. Stewart, administrators, faculty and staff for the work and dedication you have shown to all the EC students and myself.

Lastly, I want to thank my parents for always being there for me during my time here at EC.

Ecclesiastes 3:5 says "...a time to embrace and a time to keep from embracing." To all students and employees at EC, embrace your time here because there will come a time when it will cease. And when your time is finished at the college, all you will have are memories that will, hopefully, Glimmer in Gold for a lifetime.

God Bless,

Conor N. Bell

In Memory of Thomas W. Carson

Thomas W. Carson, who served 30 years as East Central Community College Director of Bands, died May 6, 2013 at the Baptist Medical Center following a lengthy battle with esophageal cancer.

Carson retired from full-time duties in 2012 to wage war against his cancer, but continued to serve as director and a member of the Collegians, the college's rock-n-roll band.

"Mr. Carson waged a courageous battle against cancer and encouraged so many with his wit, determination, and dignity throughout his illness," said Dr. Billy Stewart, ECCC President. "While we mourn with the Carson family during this time of great loss, we are so grateful that Mr. Carson invested his time, energy, and talents into East Central and our students. We are a better institution because of the service of Tom Carson."

The memory and legacy of Carson lives on at East Central through the music he taught, the musicians he developed and the spirit of music he left behind.

In 1928, East Central Junior College had evolved from the Newton County Agricultural High School to a junior college supported by Leake, Neshoba, Newton, Scott and Winston counties. More than 30 major buildings were added in addition to the original three buildings.

Originally the college employed two teachers, Mrs. W.W. Newsome, who taught English, Spanish and history and Mr. Robert Marshall, who taught chemistry and mathematics. Today, EC has grown to an enrollment of 2,836 students and employee 229 faculty and staff members.

The Wo-He-Lo, which means Work-Heart-Love, is the official yearbook of the College for 73 years. Jostens printed the 73rd edition with the theme of "A Glimmer of Gold," as voted upon by the Wo-He-Lo staff.

The theme and cover was inspired by the official "EC Gold" color and the college's new seal. The 2014 book tries to utilize a circular motif that was sparked from the seal.

The book uses five font families: Garamond, Daisy, Avalon, Helvetica and Myriad Headline. All photographs were taken by the Public Information Department, Wo-He-Lo members and other contributors all using digital cameras.

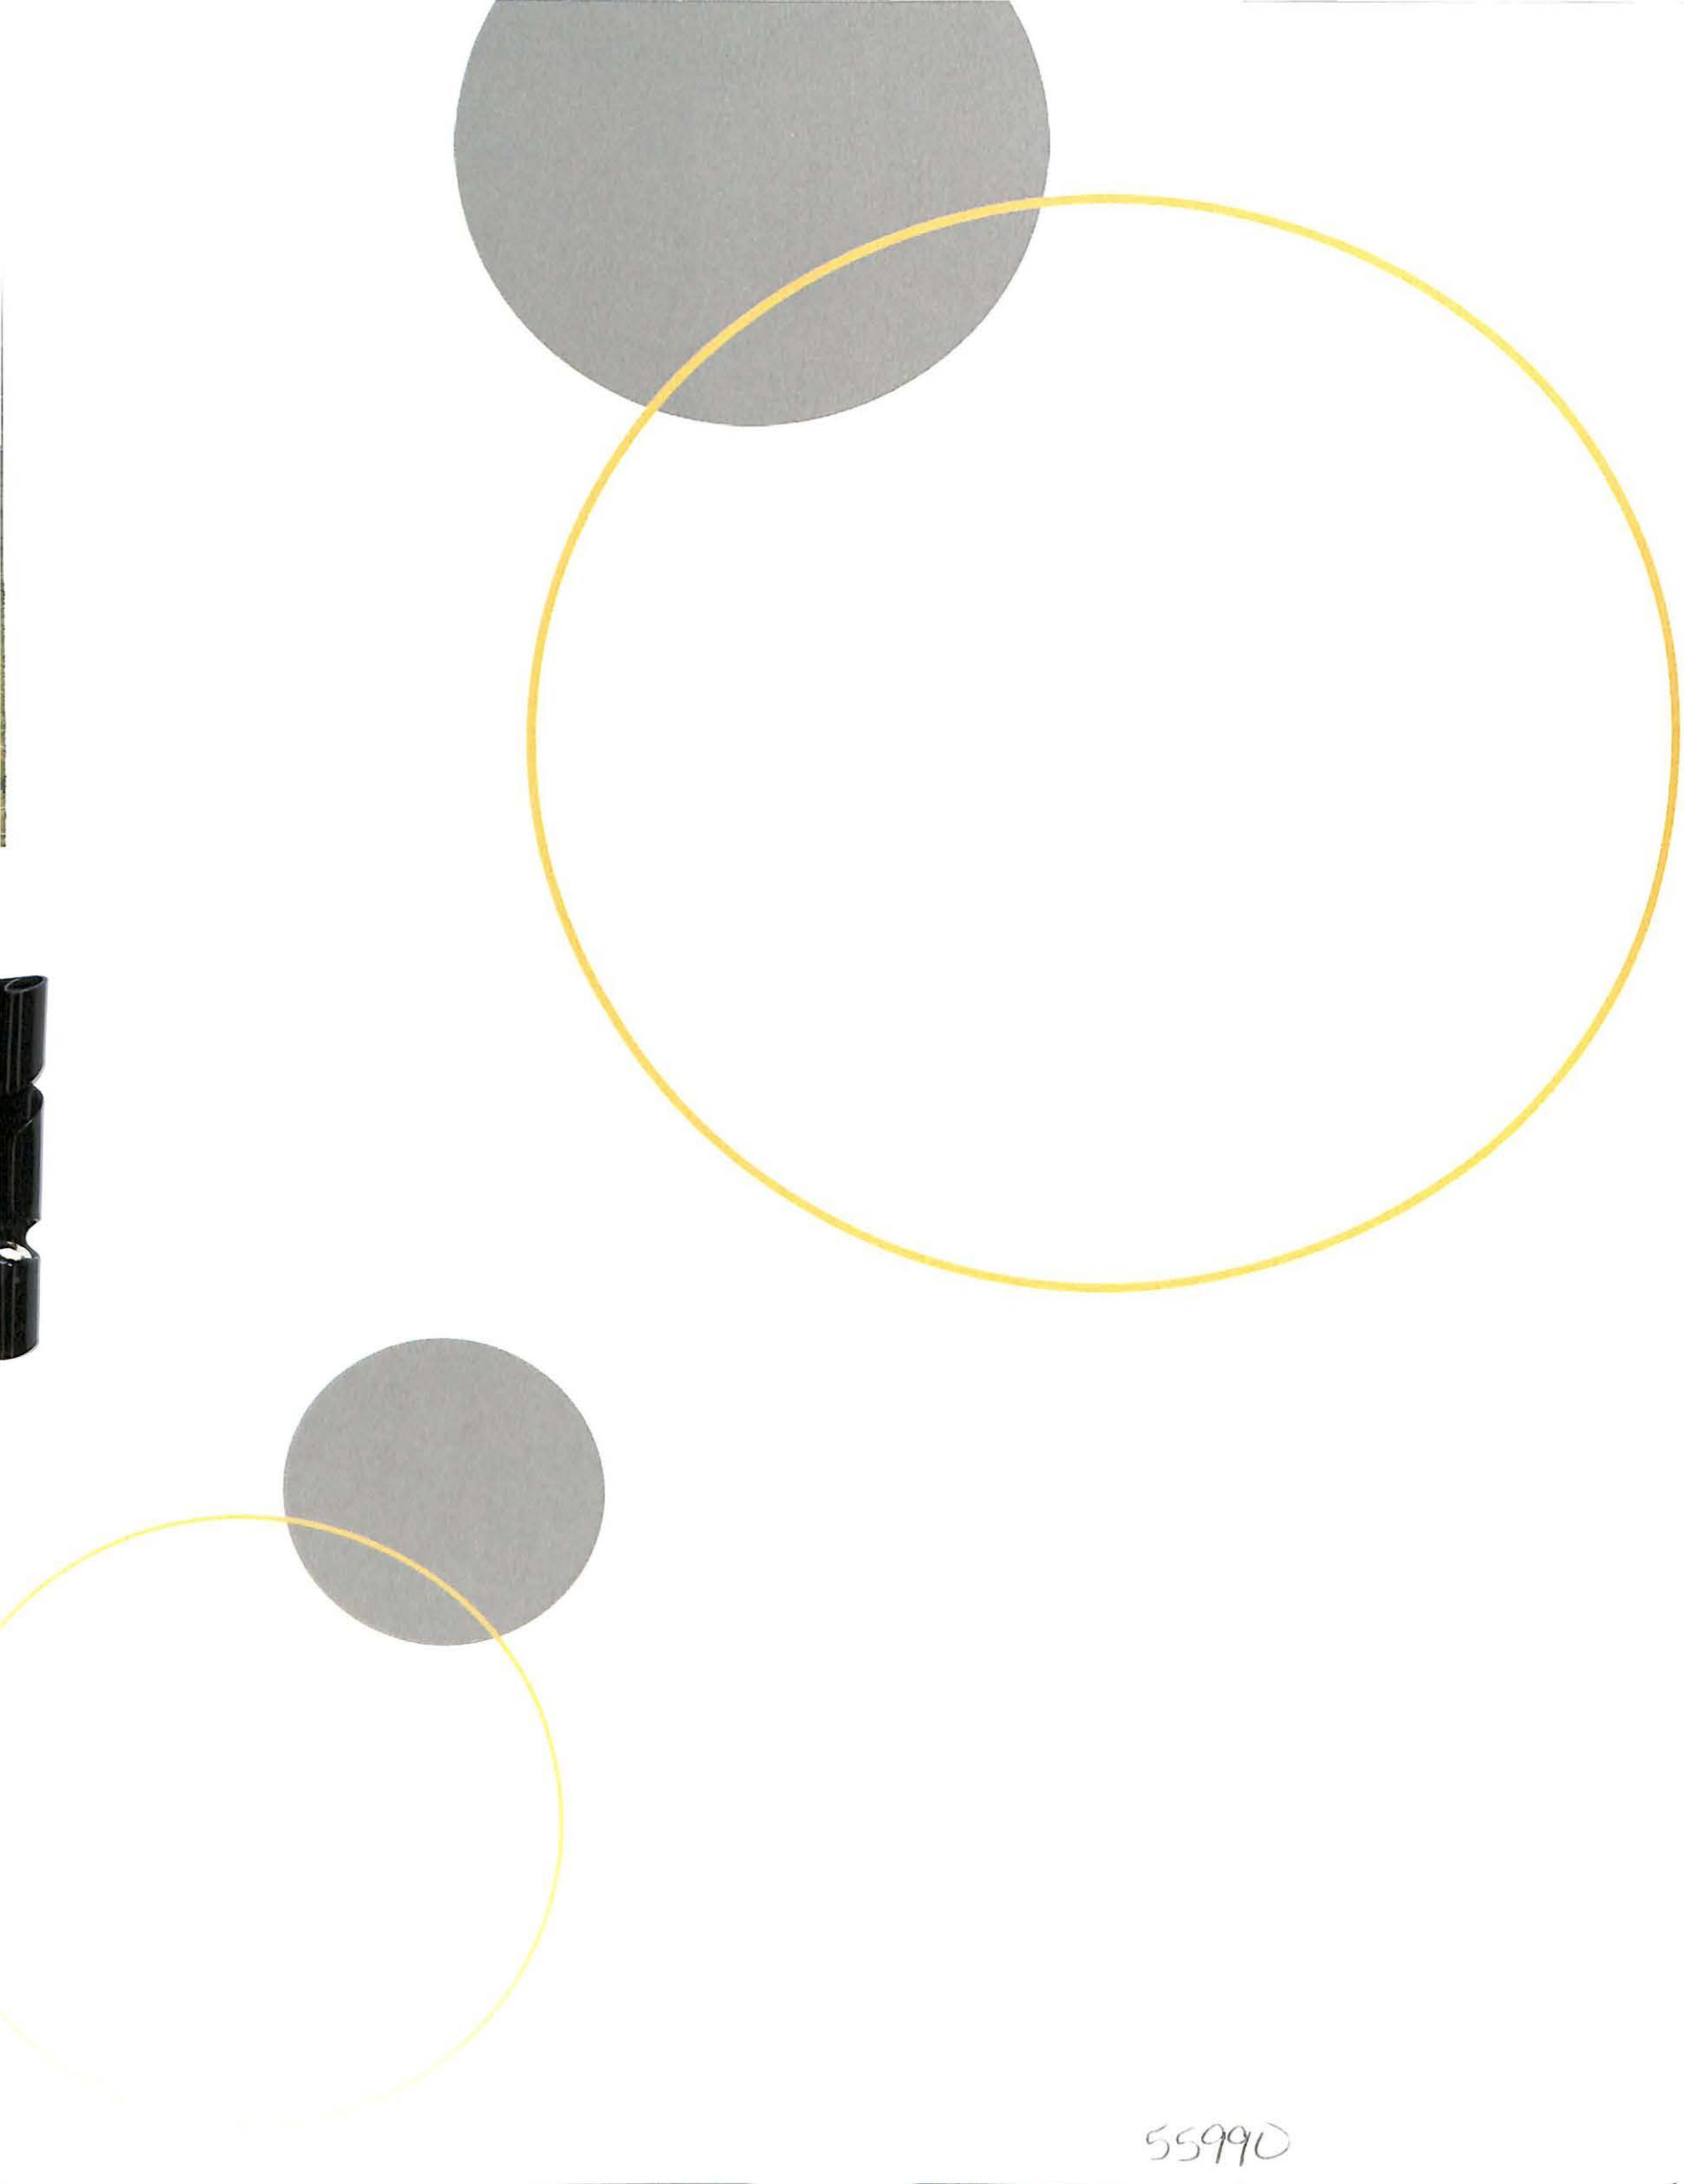

This year's staff consisted of 22 students. The Student Publications

Lab is located below Huff Auditorium. The Wo-He-Lo staff is under the direction of Ms. Gennie Phillips, who is in her sixth year as publications coordinator. The cost of the Wo-He-Lo is included in every full-time students' tuition fees.

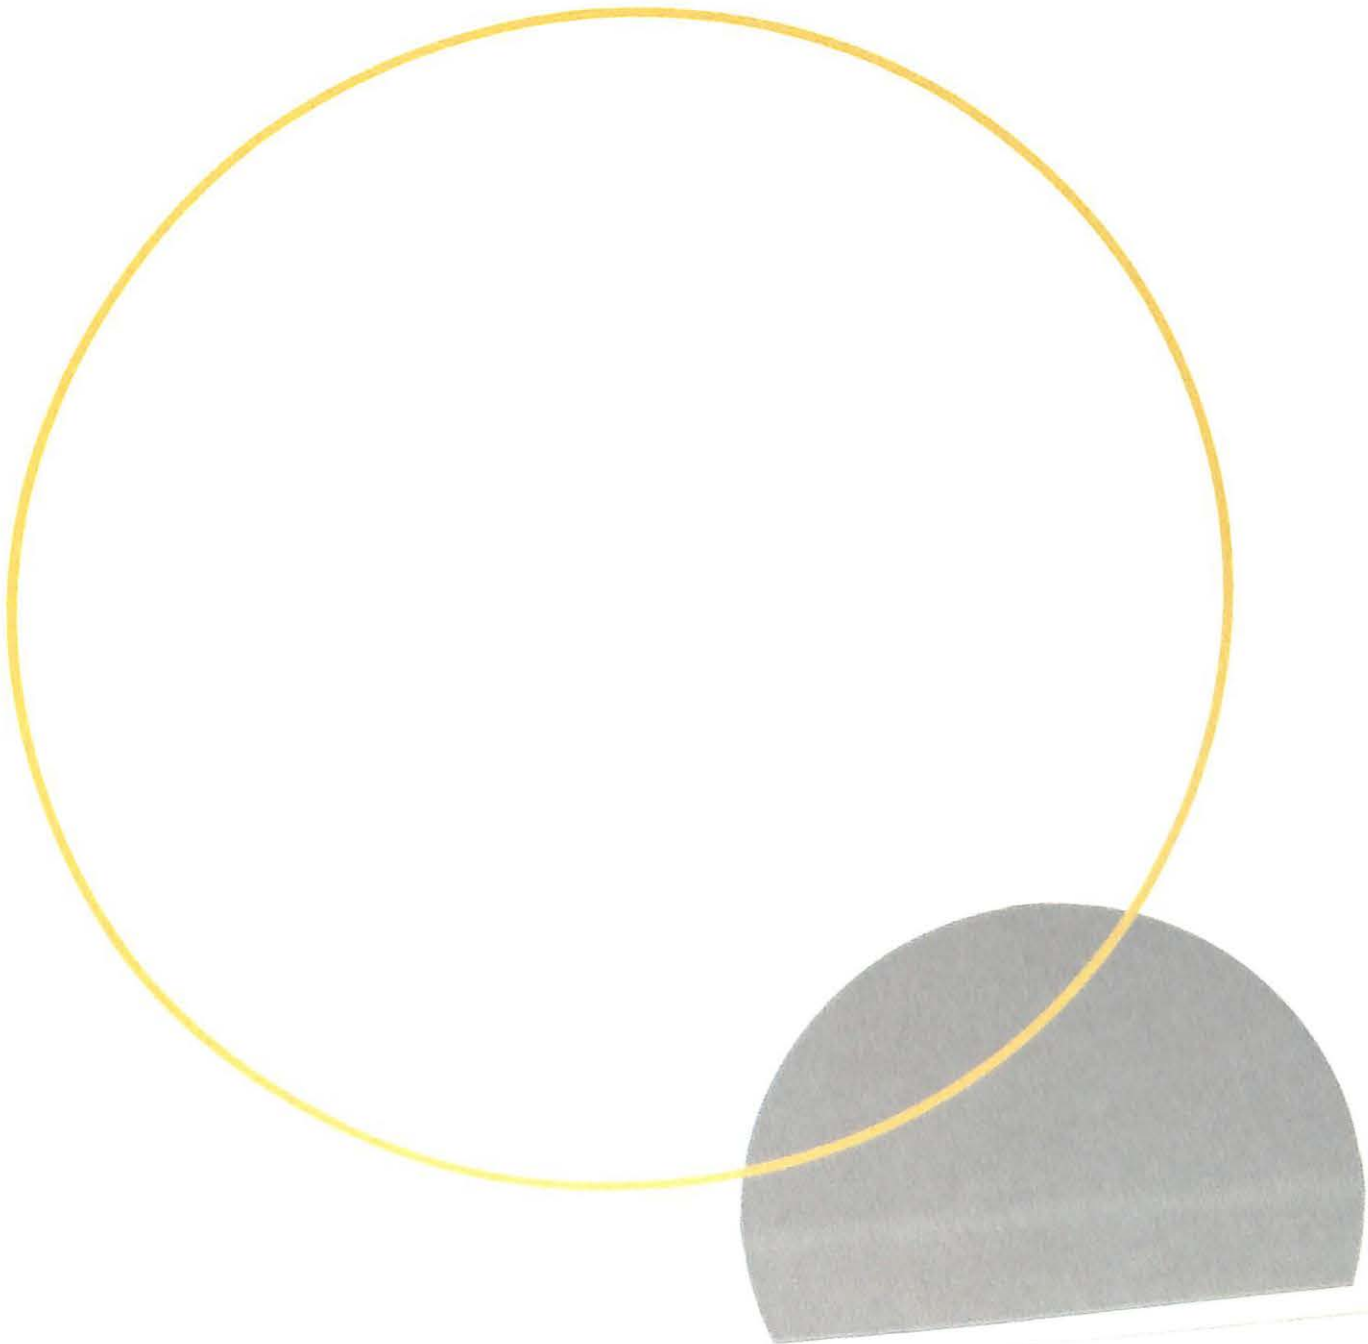

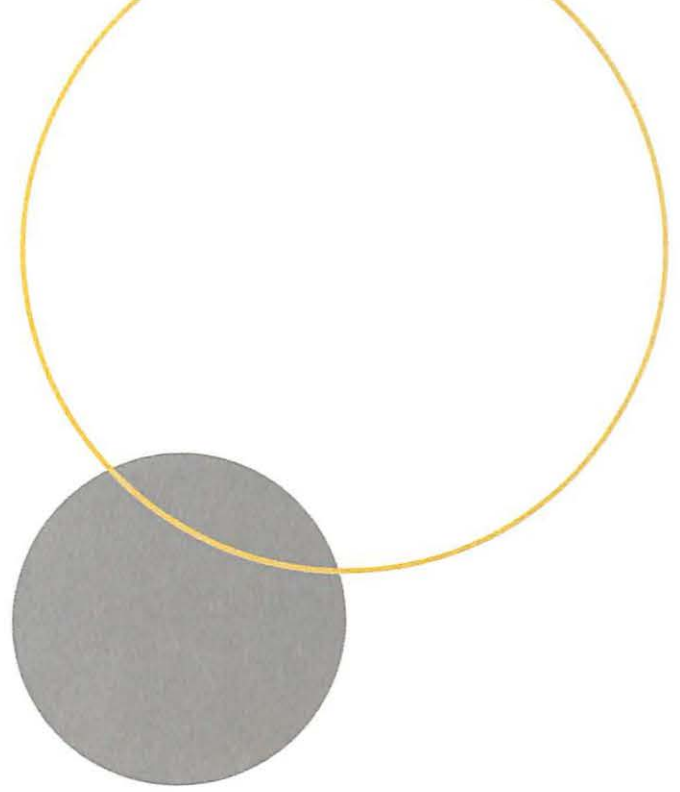

There are 220 pages in a 9x12 full color book. The Wo-He-Lo is distributed on campus following Award's Day. This year EC printed 2,000 copies of the Wo-He-Lo.

The Wo-He-Lo would like to say thank you to JUCO Weekly and other photographers who have contributed to the book.
